Soviets Cross Nazi Frontier In Old Poland

Drive Over Bug River From Where Germans Attacked Russia—Seven Armies on Move

LONDON, July 19 (AP).—Russian troops smashed across the 1941 German-Russian Bug River frontier in prewar Poland today in a drive straight at the heart of Germany, and in a newly-opened two-day offensive along the North Latvian border have hurled back the enemy 25 miles on a 43-mile front, Moscow announced tonight.

The Bug River, from which the Germans attacked Russia, June 22, 1941, was crossed by Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine Army north and south of Sokal, and north of the imperiled German stronghold of Lwow, said a communique recorded tonight by the Soviet monitor.

A supplementary communique subsequently placed the advancing Russians at Prusinov, ten miles west of Krystynopol on the Bug River border.

Seven powerful Russian armies now are hitting the Germans on a 700-mile front in the greatest combined attack ever launched in the east.

German radio broadcasts acknowledged the crossing of the Bug, and said the Germans supported by heavy tank formations were striking back in an effort to keep the Russians off the Polish plains leading to German Silesia, 245 miles west of Sokal.

Sokal, 45 miles north of Lwow, was captured in the sweeping advance in which Soviet airplanes held undisputed sky mastery, Moscow said. Lwow, one of the greatest rail hubs in Europe, also was imperiled by Soviet advance forces which overran Remenov, only eight and a half miles northeast of that stronghold.

In the north other Russian armies were fighting just a few miles outside Brest Litovsk, 110 miles east of Warsaw after cutting the railway leading north to Bialystok at Kleschell.

Kleschell, a junction of the Brest Litovsk-Bialystok and Warsaw-Baranovichi lines, was captured.

Premier-Marshal Stalin announced the new offensive in an

Livorno and Ancona Fall

Two Ports Give Allies Italian Supply Bases

ROME, July 20 (Thursday) (AP).—American troops of the Allied Fifth Army have plunged to the Arno River on a 25-mile front after capturing the port of Livorno, an official announcement said today, but a torrential rain has seriously interfered with the advance.

Just where the infantry had reached the stream was not disclosed. The Arno empties into the sea at Pisa, six miles up the coast from Livorno.

ROME, July 19 (AP).—American troops who have slashed their way 250 miles northward in Italy in just over two months, drove the Nazis out of the big port of Livorno today a few hours after Polish infantry of the British 8th Army seized Ancona on the Adriatic coast.

Capture of the two ports gave the Allies valuable supply bases for their forthcoming onslaught against the enemy's Gothic Line. Engineers began reconstruction of wreckrd dock facilities while infantry and armor pressed on.

Use of the Livorno docks will be restricted, however, until the Nazis have been driven off Mount Pisano which rises immediately northeast of Pisa. The Germans have installed many big guns there to shell Livorno's harbor from a distance of about 12 miles.

In the central sector British troops of the 8th Army with Canadian tank support widened their bridgehead across the Arno River northwest of Arezzo to six miles and captured Montevarchi 15 miles west of Arezzo.

Eastern Canadian tanks under Major Don Cameron, Vernon, B.C., and Major F. W. Johnson, Three Rivers, Que., were taking part in the advance along the main Arezzo-Florence highway.

This unit presumably was the Three Rivers (Que.) Regiment previously named as in action in Italy. Other tank units identified have been the Calgary Regiment and the Ontario Regiment, of Oshawa, Ont.

Other Eastern armor under Major Doug McIndoe, Vernon, B.C., was rumbling northward after striking through mountain country.

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

LONDON, July 19.—Under cover of the greatest air bombardment ever known on a battlefield General Montgomery has broken through the German defences in Normandy and his troops, including the Canadians, are out in the open plain. The Times special correspondent on the Caen front describes it in sporting language.

The enemy has been dealt a mighty blow and the victorious British Army are in full cry.

Those who saw the bombing believed nothing could live beneath such a storm of explosive. But the German tank screen survived and there was some opposition in the area that bristled with anti-tank defences.

What speed can be made by the British tanks eastward into France must depend on the rate at which the infantry can follow up.

The pall of death now hangs over the Orne River valley.

Not only were positions battered to fragments from the sky but tactical fighter-bombers smashed enemy troop concentration.

Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory himself flew into the battle in an unescorted airplane, so little did anyone expect opposition from the once powerful Luftwaffe. No sign of it was seen anywhere during the momentous day, though German-held buildings disintegrated into dust and the German guns were smothered with explosives.

War correspondents found themselves unable to describe the scene of such tremendous devastation or the fury of the air assault.

In the new offensive eastward towards the great fortress of Lwow Marshal Konev's troops have broken through the German defences on a front 120 miles wide and have advanced up to 30 miles.

The strategically important centre of Brody has been captured and Lwow itself is now in danger.

The Red Army is also victoriously advancing on another great enemy base, Brest Litovsk, and in the north is striking hard for Dvinsk.

The Russian High Command, according to The Times Moscow correspondent, has now the choice of

Bouchard Claims Has Perfect Right to Speak Out in Senate

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP).—Senator T. D. Bouchard (Liberal, Quebec), speaking in the Senate today denied that an address he had made June 21 referring to action by minority groups seeking to establish a French State in Canada had been an insult to the Province of Quebec.

Senator Bouchard spoke after Senator L. A. David (Liberal, Quebec) had said the earlier speech implied that Quebec was disloyal.

The exchange between the two senators came at the conclusion of a debate on a motion by Senator David seeking action on the preparation of a textbook on Canadian history which would be acceptable to all provinces.

Senator Bouchard, referring for the first time in the Red Chamber to his June 21 speech which aroused wide controversy, said he considered he had a perfect right to speak out in the Senate concerning Quebec affairs.

Senator David prefaced his remarks on Senator Bouchard's speech by commenting it was difficult to criticize a person with whom long association had proven good intentions.

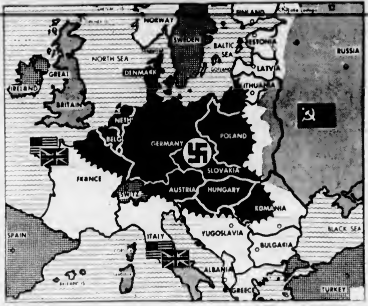
"Even supposing there should be in Quebec, and I will go the limit, a few anti-British, and in every part of the Empire you can find some anti-British, if there are some of them in Quebec are you going to condemn the whole of French Canadians?" he asked.

Senator Bouchard said: "When a French Canadian speaks in the Senate he speaks in his proper home. The country for a French Canadian, as well as for a Canadian of any other descent, extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"My national family is the Canadian family and when I speak here I speak to my brothers."

Senator David's motion was adopted without a recorded vote.

Report Nazis Plan to Withdraw to "Inner Fortress"



Germany's supreme war council, according to reports from Madrid, is contemplating withdrawing its forces from occupied countries. Military observers believe that Hitler will withdraw to his inner fortress (black area on map) by throwing overboard his outermost conquests, the Balkans, Norway, the Baltics and part of France (white area) to concentrate more on imperiled territory closer to the heart of Germany. Some of the Nazi fighting units are now operating about 25 per cent below battle strength, and pulling in troops to build these divisions up to their full strength, is said to be the German answer to the problem.

Tojo and His Whole Jap Cabinet Resign

Announce Decision to "Renovate Personnel Totally to Prosecute the War Totally"

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP).—The Government of Gen. Hideki Tojo resigned collectively as part of Japan's drastic overhauling of her political and military commands in the face of mounting disaster, Tokio announced tonight, and Emperor Hirohito ordered Marquis Koichi Kido, Home Affairs Minister, into an audience with a view to forming a new Cabinet.

Kido was summoned July 18 (Japanese date), the same day Premier Tojo's Cabinet tendered its resignation, a Domei dispatch at 10 o'clock C.D.T. tonight said.

"Home Affairs Minister Kido was ordered into audience by His Imperial Majesty who questioned him in regard to the succeeding Cabinet following the resignation of the Tojo Cabinet," said the broadcast reported by the Federal Communications Commission.

Tojo, who led Japan into war against Britain and the United States less than two months after his Cabinet was formed in October, 1941, had been considered his nation's supreme war lord.

Following a switch in the Japanese naval command announced on Monday, however, he was himself removed as chief of the army general staff on Tuesday and subsequently presented his resignation as Premier and Minister of War along with the resignations of his lesser colleagues, to the Emperor.

A statement by the Japanese Board of Information said: "We anticipate with great anxiety the appearance of a new strong Cabinet at this time."

Kido, a former Minister of Public Welfare and of Education, is one of the senior statesmen of Japan. He held the post of Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal when Prince Fumimaro Konoye's third Japanese Government collapsed in the face of a grave impasse on national policy toward the United States and Russia in October, 1941.

Peat Fire Now Under Control

VANCOUVER, July 18 (CP).—Peat fires on Lulu Island in suburban Vancouver were finally brought under control tonight after two weeks. Ditches were dug around the burning area and tons of water poured into the sunbaked spongy ground by fire fighters.

One house was destroyed and an empty farm building burned down together with thousands of young evergreen trees in the blaze.

A forest fire on Bowen Island near Vancouver was under control tonight and officials said cottages on the island were in no immediate danger.

Report Rommel Hit by Splinter

STOCKHOLM, July 19 (AP).—The Free Danish Press Service reported tonight that Field Marshall Rommel had been wounded and operated on by a Danish surgeon, Prof. Busch, for removal of a shell splinter. The story, which could not be confirmed from any source, failed to indicate when the operation was performed.

DEATH KNELL SOUNDED

BRETTON WOODS, N.H., July 19 (AP).—The death knell of the Bank of International Settlements was sounded at the United Nations monetary conference today through committee approval of a resolution aimed at liquidating the institution.

This proposal, introduced by the Norwegian delegation and supported by the United States, would make it mandatory that any nation belonging to the International Monetary Fund and the Bank for Reconstruction and Development must take steps to "enter the liquidation" for the institution.

Approval by the conference was forecast.

HAS HEART ATTACK

BRETTON WOODS, N.H., July 19 (AP).—Lord Keynes, head of the British delegation to the United Nations monetary conference, suffered a mild heart attack today but his condition was described as "not too serious." A delegation spokesman said he became "indisposed" at the close of a gruelling day. It was expected that he would be able to attend tomorrow's meetings.

Roosevelt Will Broadcast Today

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP).—President Roosevelt plans to address the Democratic fourth-term convention tomorrow night by radio—but from where is a secret.

The Democratic National Committee announced arrangements for the speech during the session tentatively scheduled to begin at 6.15 p.m. Pacific Daylight Time. Mr. Roosevelt revealed recently that he would be away from Washington for a few days. But information on his movements is restricted under the censorship code.

The British Press Association said today he "is not at present planning a visit to Britain."

Take Toll of Jap Vessels

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Destruction of 14 more Japanese vessels, including two combatant ships, by American submarines pounding enemy supply lines was announced by the Navy today.

The sinkings bring to 806 the number of Japanese vessels sunk, probably sunk or damaged by American submarines.

Of the total 654 ships definitely have been sunk, 37 probably sunk, and at least 115 damaged. The Navy for several months has not announced the damaging of enemy ships by submarines and that figure undoubtedly is greater now.

JAPANESE ATTEMPT TO OUTFLANK

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, July 19 (AP).—Stung by the loss of 1,360 men in unsuccessful frontal assaults, the Japanese have changed their tactics and now are attempting to outflank Allied lines on the Driniumor River in British New Guinea, headquarters announced today.

This toll of known Japanese dead, up to Tuesday, included 582 reported today.

Three Japanese assaults and a series of probing drives have been repulsed.

Medium bombers Monday sank a 2,000-ton freighter at Halmahera, 300 miles south of the Southern Philippines.

This brought the shipping bag of the last three days to 10 ships, six coastal craft and at least nine barges sunk or crippled.

34,850 CHOLERA DEATHS

PATNA, India, July 20 (Thursday) (CP).—A severe cholera epidemic has taken a toll of 34,850 lives in North Bihar since its outbreak three months ago, according to official figures disclosed today. The greatest mortality is in the districts of Muzzafarpur and Champaran.

Sustained Attack With Flying Bombs Greatest of War So Far

LONDON, July 19 (AP).—Salvos of flying bombs rained on London and Southern England yesterday, last night and today in the greatest sustained attack since the Nazi terror weapon was introduced.

Civilians braced themselves for possibly heavier casualty tolls as the winged bombs poured down in an almost unbroken stream similar to artillery barrage. They recalled Prime Minister's warning that there could be no diversion of men or material from the battlefront to meet the robot menace.

Some bombs smashed into buildings in power dives with their engines still running. Others plummeted a few seconds after their engines cut out. Still others came in long, silent, deadly glides.

Rescue squads worked tirelessly digging into the wreckage of buildings for trapped persons and recovering bodies. Civilians went grimly about their business with the roar of the explosions in their ears.

The fresh flood of bombs coincided with the opening of the British and Canadian offensive early yesterday and it was obvious the German Command hoped to pull off some of the 7,350 Allied planes which pounded the Nazi war machine in France and Germany during the day.

Wes Gallagher, Associated Press correspondent at Allied Headquarters, said that any Allied planes used to smash at the launching platforms of the robots would be "surplus aircraft not needed for the main task"—the offensive in France and against Germany proper.

British and Canadian Forces Double Breach In Nazi Eastern Line

Hurl Germans From More Than Ten Towns—Roaring Drive Reaches Nine Miles Inland

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, July 19 (AP).—Gen. Dempsey's British and Canadian forces more than doubled their breach in the Germans' Eastern Normandy line Wednesday, and in the second day of a roaring offensive drove armor inland almost to Vimont, nine miles southeast of Caen on the main road to Paris.

Shattering Nazi Marshal Rommel's last fixed defence line short of the Seine River, 40 to 60 miles eastward, the British Second Army troops hurled the Germans from more than ten towns and villages, and progressed well into a new phase of their breakout from the invasion beachhead.

British armor, supported by British and Canadian infantry, battled its way into the outskirts of Troarn, eight and one-half miles east of the centre of Caen, but in the thrust toward Vimont, 112 miles west of Paris, the Nazis erected a strong screen of anti-tank guns to stem the Allied tide, Associated Press Correspondent Roger Greene reported from the front early today.

Gen. Montgomery, Allied ground commander, reported steady progress in the face of the best resistance Marshal Rommel could muster with strong infantry reinforcements and SS. armored divisions, the flower of the Nazi war machine.

Fluid, armored battles were flaming over miles of the Caen Plain and German counter-attacks were collapsing before the impact of the drive.

After an original break-through on a front of slightly less than three miles, launched from the wedge across the Orne River northeast of Caen, the second day's battle widened the breach to six miles.

Towns and villages overrun included these ten in a sweeping arc east and southeast of Caen: Ranneville, Banneville, Touffreville, Giberville, Demouville, Colombelles, Faubourg De Vaucelles, Cuverville, Cagny and Grentheville.

The last two named, respectively five and four miles southeast of Caen, were taken in an important thrust across the Caen-Vimont highway and railroad.

Many hundreds of prisoners were being taken, and one Canadian unit reported capturing so many Nazis that its progress was delayed, Greene reported.

William Stewart, Canadian Press war correspondent, said Canadian infantry formations moved southward Tuesday from their jumping-off point east of the Orne River and cleaned the Germans out of Vaucelles, Caen's industrial suburb just across the Orne and neighboring villages.

Stewart said another Canadian formation marched across a bridge from Caen into Vaucelles to aid in clearing out the battered industrial suburb, and added that Canadian tanks supported Tuesday's Canadian sweep of the river bank area on

Berlin Cut Off From World—May Indicate Some Internal Upheaval

LONDON, July 20 (Thursday) (CP).—Berlin was cut off from the outside world early last night, The Daily Mail reported today in a dispatch from Stockholm, which said there was speculation that the suspension of telephone and telegraph communications might be the result of some "internal upheaval."

The shutdown went into effect at 5 p.m. British double Summer time (10 a.m., C.D.T.) Wednesday. Communications usually are cut during an air raid, but not so early. German radios kept broadcasting.

Heavy Smash at Munich As Air Raids Continue

LONDON, July 19 (CP).—Allied aircraft streamed over Germany and German-held France today, with one of the heaviest single assaults directed at the Munich area.

More than 1,200 American heavy bombers escorted by 750 fighters flew from Britain to attack factories in Southern Germany while 1,000 heavy bombers and fighters struck up from Italy at targets in the Munich area.

As the co-ordinated air blow from south and west entered their second consecutive day, the R.A.F. hurled an undisclosed but heavy tonnage of bombs against flying bomb installations in Northern France even as the robot raiders droned over London and Southern England in increased strength.

Approximately 20,000 tons of bombs have been loosed against the Continent since Tuesday, more than half of them on the German homeland.

Since the non-stop battering of the Continent began at 5.45 a.m. Tuesday, with tremendous bomb blows supporting the new Caen drive, Allied airmen have downed 145 German planes and destroyed an additional 47 on the ground with Wednesday's score by the Mediterranean force yet to be tabulated.

Allied losses during this 36-hour period were 133 planes, about half of which were heavy bombers. This figure includes Mediterranean losses Tuesday but not Wednesday.

Some 1,700 United States heavies roared from the west and south against Germany, accompanied by about 1,300 fighters. They slammed explosives on plane plants, airfields, a ball-bearing factory, railroad, ordnance depots and chemical works all the way from Saarbrucken to Schweinfurt in Southern Germany.

The R.A.F. day smash followed a combined R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. assault with 1,000 bombers on Berlin and Cologne, two synthetic oil plants in the Ruhr, rail yards in France and the rocket bomb nests in France. Canadian bombers helped blast the Ruhr synthetic oil plant at Wesseling and the R.C.A.F. Nighthawk Mosquito Squadron shot down

Canadians in Orleans Raid

LONDON, July 19 (CP).—Canadian crews took part in an R.A.F. attack on a German supply dump at Orleans south of Paris by medium bombers today and R.C.A.F. Typhoon fighter-bombers maintained dawn-to-dusk patrols over the Normandy battlefield area.

Canadians who flew in the Mitchell bombers on the Orleans sortie included Sgt. E. N. G. Powell, of Trans, Sask.; P.O. S. L. W. Patterson, of Regina and E. A. Wells, of Winnipeg.

A squadron of the Normandy-based Typhoons commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. Bill Pentland of Calgary flew 44 sorties in daylight in the face of intense ack-ack.

W.O. Richard Watson, of Oba, Northern Ontario, bailed out into No Man's Land from a blazing aircraft and limped back to his squadron 12 hours later after helping to escort 120 Germans to a prison camp. A German shell ripped his parachute and an enemy machine-gun carrier caved in a slit trench ten feet from where he was hiding. It was not explained how he escaped and joined the prisoner escort.

YOUTH DROWNS

CALGARY, July 19 (CP).—Harold Leinweber, 16, drowned in the Bow River here today while trying to learn to swim, and a companion, Michael Browarny, 13, narrowly escaped death attempting to save him. Browarny was pulled to safety by Harry Kinwater, 16.

Lightning Starts Kootenay Fires

NELSON, B.C., July 19 (CP).—Lightning storms following two weeks of high temperatures spread a dozen or more fires through Nelson district forests Wednesday.

Fire fighters were busy on all reported blazes and others were being recruited to assist. A fairly brisk breeze sprang up tonight to aggravate the situation.

A thousand acres was involved in a bad blaze south of Waldo in the East Kootenay. Logging and milling crews were combatting the fire. Fighters were seeking to regain control of a fire across the Kootenay River from Tarrys, 18 miles west of here. Other fires were being fought to the east and south of Nelson.

Labor Council Disagrees on Breakwater

Committee to Gather More Information

Failing to agree on the advisability of having a second breakwater in the Outer Harbor, Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council last night referred the question to its rehabilitation committee, which will gather information on the project.

The action was taken on amendment of motion to endorse a [illegible] of the local employment advisory committee of the Unemployment Insurance Commission for the proposed breakwater.

Varying opinions were expressed by union delegates. One said the new breakwater would have to be much higher than the present one at Ogden Point if it was to reduce the wind risk for docking ships.

Another said there might be some truth in statements that construction of a second breakwater would leave not enough manoeuvring room for vessels, but a third said that seeing ships in dock when high seas were running would be convincing of the need for a breakwater. The second breakwater is proposed to extend south from an island east of Macaulay Point.

Victoria harbor needs a great deal of improvement. Another breakwater is only a beginning, one said.

Nothing would be so useless as a breakwater that was doing no good, another contended. Tidal currents would run more rapidly through a narrower breakwater gap, it was stated, and freighters would not make Rithet Piers.

Capt. C. A. Gorling, Victoria harbormaster and port warden, said yesterday that in his opinion although the proposed breakwater from east of Macaulay Point would add protection to docks, it would stop large vessels coming to the harbor. They would not have turning space, he said.

Disadvantages of the proposed breakwater would outweigh its advantages, he believed. It would make handling of 10,000-ton freighters difficult. Tugs here were not adequate to handle large vessels as would be necessary if the breakwater were built, he stated.

Believes Tax Reductions Now Would Aid Postwar Industry

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)—Hon. R. B. Hanson, Progressive Conservative member for York-Sunbury constituency in New Brunswick, said today in the Commons he believed taxes should be reduced now so that industry would be in a position to meet postwar problems.

Mr. Hanson, speaking during continued examination of budget resolutions, said Finance Minister Ilsley had admitted in his budget speech that the Government had taxed industry beyond "true income." A reform in the taxation system was long overdue.

"We are suggesting reductions in taxation in order to meet the situation that will arise in the postwar period," Mr. Hanson said. "The reductions in taxation which the Opposition amendment (to the budget resolution) advocated this year will not begin to equal the amount which the Department of National Defence is wasting in the army in Canada."

Examination of the resolutions continued at the evening sitting, with the income tax and excess profits tax resolutions passing amid quiet debate.

Mr. Hanson said that The Winnipeg Free Press, which he termed the Government's "greatest supporter," had indicted the Government's taxation policy in a series of articles last March. He quoted frequently from the articles and then said the Government should indicate what the postwar taxation policy likely would be.

Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to the Finance Minister, said many suggestions had been received from industries which wanted to be allowed to set up a tax-free reserve to take care of maintenance and repairs they were unable to carry out now because of a shortage of materials and manpower.

"This was carefully considered," he said. "The feasibility of being able to allow such a tax-free reserve was considered and it was felt that the difficulties in the way of allowing it were almost insuperable."

The proposal in the resolution under study was that after a period determined by the governor in council repairs and maintenance might be charged half back in a previous year.

"In other words, the income tax return for that year may be reopened," he said. "One-half of the repairs in a given period may be charged back to that year and, in effect, the taxpayer is receiving a refund on taxes.

"The money must be all spent and the taxpayer may then charge half of it as current and take half of it and put it back in a previous period."

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
A.P. War Analyst

The Bug River sector of the Nazis' "East Wall" in Poland, from which the disastrous attack on Russia was launched, is fast disintegrating between the jaws of the Red Army vise clamped upon it from north of Brest Litovsk to south of Lwow.

That north-south water hazard cutting through Central Poland for nearly 200 miles from the Carpathian foothills to the western extremity of Pinsk marshes, is in deadly danger by Berlin's sombre admission. Behind it lies no strong river barrier along which tottering German armies can rally until the Vistula is reached. And it, too, is vulnerable.

Linked with broadening and deepening Allied footholds in Normandy and new Allied advances in Italy, the new Russian blow on the Bug lends credence to a Moscow-published cry from a captured German general that Hitler recently had told his commanders "the way to victory is through faith in Nazism."

"We knew his words could not remedy conditions at the front where soldiers, tanks and planes are needed," the crestfallen officer said.

That was being demonstrated anew in Italy, Normandy and most of all in Poland. Ukrainian armies already had turned the Bug line to the south and closed in on the Lwow bastion matching the swift sweep of White Russian forces around the line's northern anchorage at Brest Litovsk. In between, on that 180-mile front, the Russians had crossed the Bug above and below Sokal and were menacing it east of Chelm along the direct road and rail route to Warsaw via Lublin.

Invasion Front

the right flank of the British offensive thrust.

Greene said Canadian troops in this mopping-up operation took most of the bag of 1,250 prisoners reported officially as the first day's total for the offensive.

Tonight's headquarters communique—No. 88—disclosed also the capture of Fleury Sur Orne, on the river's east bank about two miles south of Caen, and Louvigny, on the west bank two miles southwest of Caen. The Orne flows due west between these two villages before swinging southward again.

Clearing up pockets of resistance left in the first day's surprise thrusts, the British Second Army won command of both sides of the River Orne on at least a 13-mile front running from the sea to the vicinity of Louvigny.

The weight of the offensive was directed to the south and southeast from the bridgehead across the Orne, and the first day's gain on Tuesday against the surprised Germans ran up to six miles from the centre of Caen, headquarters disclosed today.

Today [illegible] tank battles were swirling around Cagny and near Grentheville as the Germans tried to halt the Allied plunge in the direction of Paris along Highway 13. Berlin's announcements on the fighting admitting the loss of Cagny stressed the Allied progress along this main route to the French capital.

BRITISH WARSHIPS ENGAGE BATTERIES

British warships and landing craft engaged enemy batteries on the eastern flank in support of the ground forces and although bad weather prevented a continuation of aerial support such as that which accompanied the opening of the offensive Tuesday, Normandy-based aircraft were able to maintain a close cover over the battlefield.

The front exploded into action along the entire 20-mile east flank arc as far back as Hottot, two miles southwest of Tilly Sur Seulles, which the British Second Army captured in a steady push inland to gain more room for manoeuvre.

Marshal Rommel, with no fixed defence line short of the Seine River 40 to 60 miles east of the broken Orne River line, hurled in his reserves of picked tank divisions late Tuesday in an attempt to encompass the Allied assault but he failed, headquarters disclosed tonight.

Driving across the Caen Plain towards the large town of Falaise, 20 miles south and slightly east of Caen, and towards Vimont, nine miles southeast of Caen, the Allied troops were engaged by from nine to 13 divisions—between 100,000 and [illegible]000 men.

Headquarters disclosed the British and Canadian forces repulsed a strong German counter-attack late Tuesday afternoon.

William Stewart, Canadian Press war correspondent, in a field dispatch said Canadian infantry completed mopping up the Caen factory area and the eastern outskirts of the [illegible] today. He said Tuesday, the initial day of the offensive, the Canadian forces marched [illegible]ward down the east bank of the Orne, protecting the right flank of British armored forces.

The Allied communique said 1,250 prisoners were taken the day in the Caen area, bringing the total taken since the beginning of the Normandy campaign [illegible] to more than 60,000.

OWE MUCH TO AIRBORNE DIVISION

Headquarters disclosed there were two prongs of attack and both owed much to the British 6th Airborne Division, which seized the Troarn wedge across the Orne northeast of Caen on D-Day and held on to their precarious foothold week after week. Included in this division are Canadian paratroopers.

One of the two thrusts speared southeastward from this wedge through Demouville, three and one-quarter miles east of Vaucelles, to guard the attacking British left, the east bank of the Orne through Colombelles and Vaucelles and then Cimbelles and Vaucelles and then leaving both-numbered German au[illegible] to be mopped up later, but [illegible] out southeastward into the Caen Plain.

The stunning force with which the offensive hurled the Germans back was illustrated by disclosure that Rommel, usually trigger-quick on counter-attacks, was unable to mount one in any force until late Tuesday, hours after the dawn breakthrough.

The German west flank in Normandy was sagging too. There the American First Army smashed two and one-half miles down the east bank of the Vire River, wiping out a Nazi salient north of captured St. Lo and mopping up the villages of Grand Hamel and La Capelle.

Rampan, two and one-half miles northwest of St. Lo, also was captured in a push down the west bank, and 16 German tanks were destroyed in beating off two counter-attacks from the southwest.

Doughboys moving southward south of Carentan cut the main Periers-St. Lo road, denying the enemy another important line of supply. This thrust partially isolated the enemy forces in both the western and eastern sectors of the American portion of the front, compelling them to make long detours for fuel and transport.

This road was cut about six miles northwest of St. Lo.

two German planes over Caen without loss. One Canadian bomber was missing.

Canadian troops fighting in the Caen area today had the support of an R.C.A.F. umbrella as Typhoon fighter-bombers blasted German gun and mortar positions and troop concentrations.

Late this afternoon R.A.F. medium bombers made their longest overland flight of the war across enemy territory, attacking a fuel dump at Orleans, 70 miles below Paris and about 215 miles from Britain.

The Britain-based daylight force of Americans—more than 1,200 Flying Fortresses and Liberators with 750 escorting fighters—concentrated its assault on the factory at Hellriegelkreuth in the Munich area which makes chemicals for the flying bombs.

Simultaneously, 1,000 heavy bombers and fighters from Italy pounded aircraft factories, airdromes and ordnance depots near the [illegible] of the Nazi party.

Of the Britain-based force 18 bombers and seven fighters were reported missing. The victories and losses of the force from Italy were still to be announced.

Lava Engulfs Mexican Towns

MEXICO CITY, July 19 (AP)—Millions of tons of [illegible] lava pouring along a 25-mile front from Paricutin, Mexico's new-born volcano, have engulfed [illegible] towns and are [illegible] to wipe out three others.

Parícutin, the town from which the volcano takes its name, and Parangaricutiro already are buried.

The lava is moving 200 yards a day toward Zacan, San Francisco, Pariban and Zirosto, which have been partly evacuated. Residents also are leaving other towns farther ahead.

Highways leading [illegible] the doomed region, 200 miles west of here, are [illegible] with caravans of Tarascan Indians swarming [illegible] [illegible] belongings, animals and household effects as they could hastily scrape together.

Say Draftees' Taunts Start Camp Fracas

CALGARY, July 19 (CP)—The Calgary Herald, in a frontpage story today said some 150 men were involved in a fracas in which rifles and bayonets were brandished at Currie Barracks last night when the ill-feeling between general servicemen and draftees reached fever heat and broke into open warfare.

The Herald said, according to meagre information available none was seriously injured and added the draftees had been removed from the barracks and now are bivouacked under canvas on the Sarcee Reserve southwest of Calgary.

"The fight started in the canteen when the draftees commenced to sing, 'It's better to be a zombie than a general service man.'

"Tables were overturned in the fight which followed when the general servicemen openly resented the implication and the words of the song.

"The draftees ran to their hut and grabbed their rifles and bayonets to repel the general servicemen.

"Then the draftees barricaded themselves in their hut and the general servicemen ran to their huts for their own arms.

"The two groups did not clash after both were armed but the general servicemen milled around the draftee stronghold for about two hours."

319 Casualties In Ship Blast

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19 (AP)—The United States Navy announced today at least 319 men were known dead or missing in Monday night's terrific explosion of two ammunition ships at Port Chicago on San Francisco Bay 35 miles from here.

The United States wartime blast caused the loss of 203 men, 31 or 32 members of the naval armed guard, nine naval officers, five coast guardsmen and about 80 civilian crew members of the two vessels.

In addition three civilian deaths have been reported.

A total of 240 naval personnel were injured, none seriously, the announcement said.

A navy estimate placed property damage at $2,000,000 aside from the $4,300,000 value of the two ships.

McGeer Proposes Restrictions Of Powers of Chartered Banks

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)—G. G. McGeer (L., Vancouver-Burrard) for nearly four hours today discussed his money reform proposals before the Commons Banking Committee, with Finance Minister Ilsley, who said he would be glad to find any "magic formula" for dealing with financing [illegible].

Mr. McGeer proposed the enlarged use of national credit, loans to the Government from savings deposits and restrictions of powers of the chartered banks. He spoke to an amendment in which he asked that it be unlawful for any chartered bank to create and issue bank deposit credit in place of currency or coinage except with the consent of a board or the Government of the Bank of Canada, the Minister of Finance and the Prime Minister.

He said if the Dominion bought out chartered banks stocks for $400,000,000, the people then would take over $3,000,000,000 in public debt held by the banks. Unless action was taken to control the banks' credit powers the prospect was Socialistic or revolutionary steps by the people to obtain what they wished.

The former mayor of Vancouver, long an advocate of money reform, said that suffering in the depression years could be blamed on bad government based on the bad advice of "so-called" monetary advisers.

Mr. McGeer spoke with the support of Arthur Slaght (L., Parry Sound), another lawyer-money reformer who has backed Mr. McGeer in frequent discussions in the committee.

Mr. McGeer will speak again tomorrow morning.

Mr. McGeer said:

The banking and economic system of Canada must be strong enough after the war to stand the burden of a social welfare programme that will provide purchasing power to ensure [illegible] employment.

MUST EXPAND TOURIST TRAFFIC POSSIBILITIES

The tourist traffic possibilities ought to be expanded. There could be a causeway across the Strait of Canso, a tunnel to Prince Edward Island and expenditures in Quebec to allow tourists to visit beauty spots in that province.

Ottawa had the "most beautiful setting of any capital in the world" within easy holiday driving distance of 60,000,000 people. From $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 could be spent in the Ottawa district and it would be a sound investment. There was a 25-year plan to improve Vancouver and other cities had similar programmes.

The entire transportation system was obsolete and Montreal should have a tube system. Waterpower developments were necessary and the shipbuilding industry should be maintained.

Whether the cost was $1,000,000,000 or $1,500,000,000 there must be an economic structure suitable for those returning from war service.

Mr. McGeer said he was not advocating unbalanced budget, but under the present system the country was sailing "the river of debt" and would end in the "whirlpool" of unemployment and class dissension. Votes since 1940 had shown the people were not satisfied.

Ma[illegible] control, he said.

"How would you finance the war without going into debt?" asked Mr. Ilsley. "I have never understood that how it could be done."

Mr. McGeer said he would avoid creating the debt. "The issue of Bank of Canada cash at present 'bonused' the private banks.

"You supplied the banks with cash that they used as a reserve to permit them to increase bank deposits and purchase your Government securities," he continued.

"Was there ever a device more cleverly designed by which a Government could bonus a great monopoly?"

The money could have been issued by the Government itself for Government use.

SAYS MONOPOLY WILL BREAK NATION

[illegible] it would break the nation.

He said he believed that in British Columbia shipyards more ships could have been built with one-third less men at lower cost if a proper taxation system had been used. Men had been lined up ready to leave work at 4.45 p.m., there had been absenteeism in lumber camps and there were other examples of the effect of the taxation system. Persons in public life should be ready to acknowledge that mistakes in financial policy had been made.

After exhausting wartime taxation possibilities, Mr. McGeer said he would ask the people who had savings deposits totalling $2,000,000,000 to loan their money to the Government.

Mr. Ilsley said he believed the only possible policy had been followed in financing the war, and he did not see how debt and taxation could be avoided. But if there were a "magic formula" he would like to hear it.

Mr. McGeer said the present system meant that Canada was taxing herself out of private industry into public ownership.

Mr. Ilsley said the issue was that Mr. McGeer, instead of borrowing from the chartered banks to the extent necessary, would borrow from the Bank of Canada and have the banks hold 100 per cent reserves on the deposits which would be created by the Government borrowing from the Bank of Canada. The proposal in respect to savings deposits was "just a compulsory loan."

Mr. McGeer said the country could compel a man to go to the front line to fight and the loan of financial resources surely could also be compelled.

Mr. Ilsley: "Don't go off the deep end. You are suggesting we compel savings bank depositors to loan part of their deposits to the Government. I said that meant a compulsory loan. I did not condemn it, I was describing it. It would have practically no economic significance in any event."

Mr. McGeer said he believed the majority of the people would agree to give such savings loans. They would have the security of Dominion and Provincial Governments behind their deposits.

There should be some other way of financing than by discounting national bonds.

Says S.C. Members Are Undecided

CALGARY, July 18 (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said in an address prepared for delivery here tonight that no part of the Social Credit monetary theories could be carried out without public ownership of banks.

He said the Social Credit Party seemed unable to make up its mind about banking. J. H. Blackmore, Social Credit House leader in the Commons, wished the banks to be left in private hands and had been supported by Norman Jaques, Social Credit member of Parliament for Wetaskiwin.

But on a C.C.F. motion in the Commons calling for nationalization of the banks, five of the federal Social Credit members supported nationalization while the other five members failed to vote, said Mr. Coldwell.

Mr. Coldwell said public ownership of the banking system was an essential step in any sane programme of postwar reconstruction. Currency and credit must be geared to productive capacity if there were to be jobs for all and an "end must be made to the rule of our self-perpetuating financial autocracy."

The transformation of the banking system into a national service was of vital importance to the welfare of farmer and worker alike, he said. It was a necessary part of any overall economic plan for the full utilization of human and material resources.

Sentenced to Three Years' Imprisonment

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)—Frederick George Comrie, 50-year-old former assistant treasurer of the War Services Department, was sentenced today by Judge McDougall to three years' imprisonment on 28 charges involving the theft, forgery and uttering of cheques.

Sgt. Detective William H. Bryan told court the total amount of the cheques involved in all charges was in the vicinity of $3,000. There were 11 charges of forgery, one of uttering and 16 of theft.

Judge McDougall referred to the accused's long record of service in the Government and said that record would stand in his favor.

But "I could not overlook the fact that the accused was fully aware of his responsibilities," he added.

Comrie attributed his acts to financial difficulties brought about he said by being transferred from Calgary, where he maintained a home, to Ottawa on a salary which netted him $145 a month.

Endorse Proposal For Amalgamation

A proposal that municipal services in Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt be amalgamated, without immediate consolidation of the four municipalities, was endorsed by Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council last night.

Charles Chivers, Labor Council delegate to the local employment advisory [illegible] ment Insurance Commission, reported on action taken by the advisory committee on the amalgamation proposal.

The committee proposes amalgamation of services such as fire fighting, water, sewerage and social services, for economy and the public interest. It will discuss the question again at a meeting tonight.

Construction of portable dressing-rooms to be placed in Beacon Hill Park, for children, will start on Saturday. The Labor Council was told that materials had been donated by the Cameron and Moore-Whittington Lumber Companies, Victoria Paint Supply Company, Sidney Roofing Company and Hickman Tye Hardware Company, and transportation by Heaney's, Ltd.

Members of the carpenters', painters' and other unions will provide labor. The Labor Council paid warm [illegible]

SEEK LONGER HEARINGS OF COMPENSATION BOARD

Considering that Workmen's Compensation Board hearings in Victoria were too brief, the Labor Council decided to ask that hearings last at least one day at a time. The Labor Council will also ask reconsideration of action taken on Victoria shipyard eye injury cases.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers asked the council's support in its contention that the Dominion Government should defray expenses of the families of two Esquimalt boys killed last month by an army truck.

By motion of newly-seated Boeing Aircraft delegates, the Labor Council decided to press for building of more wartime houses for workers in essential industries. It was stated that the housing shortage here was still acute.

[illegible] gates recommended that the Provincial Department of Education consider introducing the study of the trade union movement in British Columbia high schools.

Ruth Garrot, Helen Davis and Patricia Strachan were seated as delegates from Aeronautical Lodge No. 756.

Montgomery's Thrust

The Allied attack on the Normandy front, prefaced by a four-hour aerial bombardment and a concentrated artillery barrage along the Orne River, definitely carried the invasion into a fresh and vastly more important phase on its forty-fourth day. This weight of attack, led by Imperial and Canadian troops on the Allied left, would not have been mounted for small local gains. General Montgomery is after bigger game. From first reports yesterday the Allies have again taken the Germans by surprise. Depending on the fortunes in the field and the degree to which the enemy opposes the thrust, the new phase of the invasion could quickly break new ground, moving from a war of position to mobile action with all that that implies.

The springing of the last German defences in the Caen area, together with the capture of St. Lo by United States troops, have between them put an end to the enemy's hopes of bottling up the invasion on its Normandy bridgehead. Tank clashes may come next, with the open plain of Caen as the first Allied objective in the case. With favorable flying weather and powerful air support, the Allies are in good position to take advantage of such exchanges, which more than anything else can affect the final fortunes of war. If German armor is drawn into action in important weight, and beaten, as it was at El Alamein, then the present thrust may be the commencement of a very large movement indeed. Time alone will tell.

It indicates the confidence of the Allied Command that with only one real port in our possession a major offensive has been launched in Normandy. Whether this is diversionary or a main effort, the enemy must meet it or withdraw. And that means the transfer of more of his troops. An outright break through the German lines east of Paris could quickly become a turning point in the war on the Western Front. The Germans realize that, as their reaction to General Montgomery's thrust has shown. Large-scale movements develop slowly, and it may be some time before the scope and weight of the present offensive can be assessed properly. Taken in conjunction with what is happening on the Eastern Front, the Orne River battle must be a distasteful surprise to the German High Command. Canadian units are in the thick of the fight, and giving a splendid account of themselves.

The Breakwaters

Since we are going to have candor, let us have it all through. One breakwater does not enclose a harbor, any more than one side of a pincers makes a forceps. It requires two arms to enclose anything, a fact which should not need explanation, speaking for itself. Victoria, with one breakwater—and that one in the wrong place—has not an ocean harbor, but a set of exposed docks, and no amount of words will change that fact. The ocean docks are on the wrong side of the harbor, that side in fact which has no rail connection. Altogether, what we have is about as badly botched a job as the Dominion of Canada ever accomplished anywhere. We have put up with that for thirty years, expecting something better. Now patience is running out.

Were it not for the naval base at Esquimalt, that harbor would have been the logical one to have developed on the southern end of Vancouver Island. The base, however, makes that impracticable, so that Victoria must be given something in exchange. That something is a modern, efficient ocean harbor, which will put us back into circulation with the world. Travel once around the coasts of the United Kingdom, or the channel ports in France, and the main essentials of a working port become clearer. They include a sufficient body of quiet water to provide shipping roads—and that is where breakwaters come in, and also how they received their name. They include quays large enough to handle ocean-going tonnage and sufficiently equipped to move heavy goods in transit. They include docks with sufficient water at low tide. They include port services, not least of which is towing. They benefit from direct rail connection right on to the piers, where that is possible.

Badly Bungled

In the present case if we do not get the breakwaters, and two of them, we shall have no ocean harbor. It is a pity that the first breakwater—the east one—was built in the wrong place. It is half a mile to a mile too close to the docks it is supposed to guard and at the wrong angle towards wind and tide. If Canada wishes to make a permanent job of it the east breakwater should be converted into a quay, and a proper breakwater constructed further out from the centre of the basin—at its mouth in fact. Towards the new east breakwater a west breakwater should be constructed, leaving a sufficient gap for clear entrance and exit from the ocean basin in all states of wind and tide.

It is comparatively easy to throw up one's hands and to say that this cannot be done. That is what the Dominion Department of Public Works has been doing about it for some 30 years, with the assistance of those who for special reasons did not wish to see Victoria developed. But that will not serve in the era which is approaching. Trade will make or break communities. This community must re-establish itself on the shipping lanes of the world. The alternative is not to be thought of. It is in the interests of all Canada to have a working port here, one that will assist world shipping and not obstruct it. We can put our case on no firmer basis than that of national interest and world

We have every right under heaven to do that. Those who say we should lie down for another 30 years and do nothing about it will have no little explaining to do in the years that lie ahead. The world moves on. So must we or be counted out of the running, and that within the next decade. If Canada had numbers of Pacific ports the matter might be different, but that is not the case. The fact is that the Dominion has only a few outlets on the Pacific that are open the year around. This is one of them. It is both sanity and vision to develop Victoria, and it can be done. What we want now is a serious and efficient study of our case. Canada's bungle must be put right. That is a debt that has been owing to this community for more than three decades.

Russian Offensive

The Russian offensive is developing fast. Russian advances of 31 miles in the region of Lwow extending over an arc of 125 miles have brought our Ally to within five miles of the starting point of the German invasion of three years ago. North, centre and south, the Russians are in a position from which to launch the concluding drives of the war on the Eastern Front. From the swift pace followed in the last three weeks, the enemy may not have long to wait for that. Infiltration into German outworks around Lwow has been among the most significant developments of the week. Lwow is on the direct route to Warsaw, and the Russians have placed most of the enemy's advantageous ground behind them in that sector of the long front.

What is facing the Germans now is clear. The Russians have worked themselves into position to employ three active armies simultaneously, each with a favorable chance of smashing down the resistance of the enemy. Different from the west—where small fronts and massed firepower tell the story—the character of the Russian attack is a combination of vast manpower and enormous distances over which it can be used. This threat the German High Command can meet only with similar forces, and it is questionable if Germany can find the men for this, the fourth and hardest campaign on the Eastern Front.

In the last three months the Russians have steadily chopped away at the barriers which the enemy erected on the road to Poland, the Carpathians and the Baltic States, and with such success that to a very great extent most of these obstacles have now been surmounted. That would not have been done unless more was to follow, and that more will be the main thrust of Russia in the war. From positions reached yesterday in the field, that attack would seem to be close at hand, and synchronized with what is taking place in the West.

Germany wanted battle. In the next three months she is likely to have her fill of it, East, West and South, the armies of the United Nations are closing in on her. For a year German troops have been steadily retreating. Now the resistance lines have been reached, and in some instances passed. The Battle of Germany is commencing, and this Summer will see it carried to its height. No one upon our side expects that to be an easy victory. On the contrary, everything we know points to the fact that there will be hard and bitter fighting before Germany gives in. The end, however, is not in doubt. Germany cannot sustain indefinitely the pressure that can now be brought against her in the field.

Seen in Passing

A world monetary conference between some forty-five nations has gone off very well. That looks forward to the day when the war will be over, the world composed, and trade again resumed about the globe. In that trading most nations will have a better comprehension of each other and a much smaller world with which to deal. Every port in the British Empire will be of importance, and Canada for her part has not so many of them that she can afford to throw even one away.

Hot days and fire hazard go together. When a struck match burns down to the fingers the air is of low humidity, and that is the time to watch out. On such a day it is not safe to throw away a lighted match, a cigarette butt, or even scrapings from a pipe, without stepping on the embers immediately.

A Simile

Dear Thomas didst thou never pop
Thy head into a tin-man's shop
There Thomas didst thou never see
('Tis but by way of simile)
A squirrel spend his little rage
In jumping round a rolling cage?
The cage as either side turned up,
Striking a ring of bells a-top?
Moved in the orb, pleased with the chimes,
The foolish creature thinks he climbs.
But here or there, turn wood or wire,
He never gets two inches higher.
So fares it with those merry blades
That frisk it under Pindus' shades
In noble songs and lofty odes
They tread on stars and talk with gods
Still dancing in an airy round
Still pleased with their own verses' sound;
Bought back, how fast soe'er they go
Always aspiring always low.

Brave Men Died

Editor's Note—The following account, extracted from The Greek American Tribune, New York, tells how Greek patriots suffered for their loyalty to the cause of the United Nations at the hands of their brutal German oppressors. The plain unvarnished record is part of that upon which the world will one day demand a reckoning. We quote:

In July, 1942, the brothers Thyakaki from Herakleiou, of Crete, were beaten for four days for supplying provisions to British troops.

On February 18, 1942, in the Meidani Square of Herakleiou the Rev. Nicolos Neonakis was arrested with his brother-in-law and the following day was brought before Herr Hartman, commander in charge of the regiment, and four other German officers, with five German guards with guns and machine guns. Hartman said to him: "You have eight British at your court, hiding. There are another 14 hidden by your villagers, and the headquarters of British propaganda is in your house." To this the reverend refused comment. Then he was seized and held by two Germans while they pulled his hair, a third poured water over him, and one of the officers lashed him from his neck to his heels so that he remained unconscious for four days. He was kept for 28 days without food. Later he was brought to the country jail where he met his brother-in-law, who had been arrested simply because he happened to be a relative of the priest. The brother-in-law was freed on April 2, 1942.

At the end of January, 1942, Constantine Zanthakos, from Sparta, was executed for hiding British prisoners.

During the month of May or June 1942, in the village of Goora, the 65-year-old S. Moraitis was shot for having aided British prisoners.

In Sparta, January, 1942, Mr. Polyvitals was given eight years at hard labor, K. Korvis 12 years, P. Papadatos six years, P. Tekosis 6 years, and D. Solomos 43 years. All these sentences were imposed upon three people for harboring British.

HELPED TO ESCAPE

In May, 1942, the officer Zambetas was arrested and put in jail at Syra for helping British prisoners to escape from the Island of Paros.

On June 5, 1941, Emanuel Alexis, 41 years old, was arrested in Athens for expressing sympathy with the British. Fate unknown.

On June 6, 1941, at the station of Peloponnesus, a resident of Aspropyrgo, A. Athanasopoulous, 39 years old, was arrested for throwing cigarettes to British prisoners. Fate unknown.

On June 9, 1941, E. Heliotis, 21, was arrested in Athens, also Miss Katie Karekta, for expressing sympathy with the British. Fate unknown.

On June 19, 1941, E. Theophanidis, electrician, was arrested for helping British. Fate unknown.

The following have been beaten for listening to British broadcasts: Voulgaris, N. Nanos and N. Valoumis.

On October 7, 1941, the German police at Neamagnesia arrested and jailed A. Tregis for helping British to escape to Asia Minor. Fate unknown.

According to information received on August 21, 1943, as a result of sabotage carried out by British commandos, who were helped by the Cretans at the beginning of July, 1943, the Germans arrested 800 persons from around Herakleiou. Fate unknown.

On June 2, 1942, in Pyrgos the following were arrested by Italians: G. Vasilopoulous, Kristina Panopoulou, (tailoress), George Konaitis, George Stefanopoulous (lawyer), all for harboring British.

On June 3, 1942, a policeman Aristides Sogopolos, was arrested for harboring British. Fate unknown.

In March, 1942, P. Diakakos, lawyer, was arrested for harboring British. Fate unknown.

On December 2, 1941, the brothers Aristotle, and Konstantin Thelakos were arrested for hiding British. Fate unknown.

In September, 1942, at Almyros the following were arrested by the Italians: K. Kyakas, N. Tsiamos, A. Kaltsas, Kris Metsos, A. Tsiemanis for harboring British prisoner. Fate unknown.

TWO WOMEN BEHEADED

At the beginning of January, 1943, at Salonika two ladies [illegible] and 24 years old were arrested for harboring British prisoners. Their military tribunal sentenced them to death. During the proceeding of the court the two ladies courageously admitted their action, saying that they had done it as their duty. They were beheaded at Salonika.

In January, 1942, at Salonika Dr. Skouras was arrested with his wife and his student son. They were charged with harboring British. Fate unknown.

Also in August, 1942, Marika Hadzikiaki was arrested for harboring British prisoners. Fate unknown.

In August, 1943, in the district of Candia, Kostanis and Lazaraios were arrested for helping British prisoners to escape. After the usual tortures of the Gestapo they were executed.

On June 3, 1943, the Germans arrested 1,200 persons on the island of Crete charging them with being pro-British. These were sent as slaves to Germany.

Japanese beetles cause damage estimated at $7,000,000 per year to apples, peaches, grapes, roses, pasture grass and other vegetable matter in the Eastern United States. They first appeared in 1916 at Riverton, New Jersey. Beetles do not attack eggplant, lettuce, onions, carrots, squash, spinach, turnips, dewberries and pears. In Japan the beetles are not pests because they are kept in check by their own insect enemies which feed on them. They are attracted to yellow-colored objects and by the smell of geraniums . . . From Collier's: "Our income tax system is a hodgepodge built up through the years, with political considerations almost always ruling out scientific principles of taxation. The taxing of dividends coming and going bids fair to keep a lot of capital out of postwar enterprises which would make jobs and create wealth. The excess profits tax is now backfiring grotesquely" . . . From a reader: "Most of us have compulsory savings held by Ottawa yet there are no receipts to show the amount taken from our salaries. That in itself smacks of bungling business. There are still some of us who have been unable to raise the stiff income tax balances due at the end of August, so it should be possible for Ottawa to take such amounts from the compulsory savings. In fact it would be merely a matter of bookkeeping." From another reader: "The liquor commissioner set a ration of 40 ounces of gin for July, which one may purchase for $4.75. Most of the time when a permit holder visits any one of the Greater Victoria stores he is told there are no 40-ounce bottles, but he may purchase one 25-ounce and one 12-ounce bottle, a total of 37 ounces at a price of $4.85. Thus he gets three ounces less than the prescribed quota and pays 10 cents more for it. Some business."

FISHERIES RETURNED

Sir,—Had the Japanese come to Canada with guns in their hands we would have known how to deal with them. Now that their insidious intention is known, should we allow them to be scattered like bad weeds throughout the length and breadth of this wonderful land or should we send them home at the end of the war?

Once upon a time I published the Point Grey Gazette which, as a weekly, circulated in its early days across the estuary of the Fraser River to the American boundary, and saw the Japanese take over the fishing and supply most of the help in the many canneries operating out of Steveston at the mouth of the river.

After 35 years the industry is now back in the hands of the white and native Indian fishermen, and with relief to the cannery operators who at long last are out of the clutch of this Japanese octopus.

driving into East Prussia or clearing up the German Army in the Baltic first.

The Nazis are bringing troops from Norway.

Another German stronghold, Bialystok, is also threatened. It is of high importance in the Russian plan for the invasion of Germany, as its capture would protect the Soviet forces from possible counter-attacks. In the offensive to the southward of the Pripet Marshes the Russians are using huge forces of armor.

From Stockholm, The Times correspondent reports Berlin spokesmen are still insisting that the Baltic States will be held at any cost. This, despite the fact that most of the Nazis defensive positions there have already been lost.

The gains in the Italian campaign are less notable, but still of value. The Germans are able only to harass the Allies and what their plan is apart from completing the so-called Gothic line and trying to hold it, has not yet appeared.

The enemy retreat, says The Times editorially, has been conducted skilfully but there are signs of weariness and lack of discipline among the troops, some divisions of which have been greatly reduced in numbers.

If Kesselring cannot soon obtain reinforcements for his battered units he may not much longer be able to get from them what he expects. The Allies' air superiority is steadily draining away his resources and The Times suggests that before the end of the Summer the Allies will be in the great northern plains of Italy where the movement for armored troops can be very rapid.

In possession of Turin, General Alexander would threaten all the passes in the Alps from the Swiss frontier down to the Riviera, with the possibility of using amphibian power for the invasion of Southern France.

The Bonomi Government in Rome is settling down in a business-like fashion to deal with many varied problems confronting it, says The Times' Rome correspondent. It has decided to incorporate guerrilla fighters behind the German lines into the Italian Army and to recruit volunteers to fight with the Allies. The purge of Fascists throughout the whole liberated territory is now proceeding.

Benedetto Croce, famous writer and philosopher, has resigned on the ground of age alone.

Jap Cabinet

Referring to the "present grave situation," the wireless dispatch directed to Japanese-occupied areas stated, "The Government finally has decided to renovate its personnel totally in order to prosecute the war totally."

Domei said that a meeting of former Premiers had been called "to deliberate on the personnel of the new Cabinet" but did not indicate a decision was reached by the session.

"Home Affairs Minister Kido upon receiving questions from His Imperial Majesty, conscious of the huge responsibility placed upon him and so that his reply to the Emperor would be flawless, called a meeting of the ex-Premiers at the Imperial Palace on the evening of July 18," Domei said.

Listed as those who attended were Baron Reijiroo Wakatsuki, Admiral Keisuke Okada, Koki Hirota, Fumimara Konoye, Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma, Gen. Nobuyuki Abe, Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai and the president of the Privy Council, Yoshimachi Hari.

"Based upon the opinion of these men the prudent deliberation ended regarding the leader for the succeeding cabinet," Domei said vaguely.

Elaborating on its first announcement of the cabinet resignations Domei said: "The reason, to put it straightforwardly, is that the individuality of the Tojo cabinet was unable to keep up with the intensity of the burning war spirit of the people."

Tojo presented the collective resignation of his government to Emperor Hirohito after "having recognized the fact that it was most appropriate to carry out a total resignation," said a Domei News Agency wireless dispatch.

The dispatch directed to Japanese occupied areas quoted a statement by the Japanese Board of Information.

The announcement came a day after Tojo had been divested of his concurrent post as arms chief of staff in a continuation of a high command shakeup that began on Monday.

The Domei account carried this introduction:

"Tojo's entire cabinet resigns. Premier Tojo's cabinet took a resolute step on July 18 and effected the resignation of the entire cabinet."

The Board of Information announcement was issued July 20 (Japanese time). No explanation of the delay in making known the resignations was offered immediately.

"By utilizing all means available the present cabinet was not able to achieve its objective," the statement said.

Prior to this shakeup changes had been made in the high command, of both the army and navy.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 29.6 feet to the height of high water as above given.

According to Culbertson

It is unfortunately true that the opportunity for a safety play does not appear in every deal nor perhaps in one out of 20 deals. The fact remains that when the opportunity is present, failure to capitalize it may be expensive. For instance:

South dealer
Both sides vulnerable

NORTH
♠ 5 4 2
♥ 3 2
♦ A Q J 6
♣ A K Q 5

WEST
♠ K
♥ K Q J 9 8 5

♣ J 10 9 7

EAST
♠ J 10 8
♥ 10 7 6 4

SOUTH
♠ A Q 9 7 6 3

♦ 8 5 4
♣ 4 3 2

The bidding

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♥	3 ♦	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's five spade slam try was a shade aggressive in view of the bidding that had gone before.

West opened the heart king. At the second trick declarer went to dummy with a club, returned a trump, and finessed with the queen. West won and led another high heart. South ruffed, but now the lead of the spade ace revealed that there was another sure loser in the suit, and when the diamond finesse also went wrong the contract was down one.

Here was a situation made to order for the use of a standard safety play. South could well afford to lose one trump trick and the diamond finesse, but he certainly should have guarded against losing two tricks in trumps. If the finesse in trumps was on, it would not be necessary. Of course, if East had all four of the missing trumps two tricks would have to be lost, and the same applied to West's having the K-x-x over South. There was nothing to be done about these possibilities however; hence declarer should have done only what he could safely do. That was to lay down the trump ace!

R.C.N. Forces Strengthened By British-Built Corvettes

OTTAWA, July 19 — Canada's naval escort forces have been strengthened by the addition of 16 British-built corvettes while Canadian shipyards are turning out 18 Algerine class fleet minesweepers for the Royal Navy as the result of an agreement between the British and Canadian Governments entered into last year, Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, Minister of National Defence for Naval Services, announced today.

Both the Canadian and British sections of the programme are proceeding satisfactorily. One of the new corvettes, HMCS Giffard, was with HMCS Valleyfield on convoy duty when that Canadian frigate was sunk in the Atlantic in May and rescued survivors. Another of the new corvettes took part in invasion operations on "D" Day while still others have gone to reinforce escort groups.

Mr. Macdonald disclosed that 12 of the new corvettes were of the Castle class, a type new to the Royal Canadian Navy and much improved over the Flower class corvette. They are larger and more powerfully armed than the standard type of corvette.

The remaining four corvettes are of revised Flower class design, representing the most up-to-date modification of the corvette design which played such an important role in the Battle of the Atlantic. All four have been in operation since early in 1944.

Ships already commissioned and ready for service, together with the names of their commanding officers, include the following:

Revised Flower class corvettes: HMCS Giffard, Lieut. G H Matheson, RCNVR, Victoria, BC; HMCS Forest Hill, Lieut. Ernest U Jones, RCNVR, Montreal, Que.; HMCS Mimico, Lieut. F J Jones, RCNVR, Hamilton, Ont.; HMCS Long Branch, Lieutenant-Commander R J G Johnson, RCNVR, Toronto, Ont.

Castle class corvettes: HMCS St. Thomas, Lieut.-Commander L P Denny, RCNR, Dartmouth, NS; HMCS Kincardine, Lieut. R P Brown, RCNVR, Quebec City, Que.; HMCS Orangeville, Lieut. F R Pike, RCNVR, Edmonton, Alta.; HMCS Arnprior, Lieut. Stuart D Thom, RCNVR, Regina, Sask.; HMCS Tillsonburg, Lieutenant-Commander William Evans, RCNVR, Toronto, Ont.; HMCS Petrolia, Lieut. Peter W. Spraege, RCNVR, Toronto, Ont.; HMCS Huntsville, Lieut. C B Hermann, RCNVR, Ottawa, Ont.; HMCS Hespeler, Lieutenant-Commander N S C Dickinson, RCNVR, Toronto, Ont.

The remaining four ships of this class will be commissioned shortly.

Messages have been exchanged between ships and shore for centuries by means of flags and lights.

Retired Official Well Known Here

Linked with harbor development at Victoria, and now superannuated, Alexander Halkett, of Vancouver, intends to maintain an active interest in this city, and states he will make the benefit of his knowledge and experience available to further the interests of this port. He regards Victoria as his home, although New Westminster has been his headquarters as assistant engineer in the Federal Public Works Department since 1932.

Mr. Halkett is regarded as knowing more about port development at Victoria than any other public official. He came here in 1912, and was engineer for Outer Harbor work of that period, including construction of the breakwater and the Ogden Point piers.

He made the preliminary surveys to determine the present site of the Esquimalt drydock, capable of accommodating the largest ships afloat.

Mr. Halkett was responsible for surveys for uniform deepening of the Inner Harbor, and had charge of the removal of Hospital Rock. He also had charge of dredging here until 1918.

In that year he was transferred to general survey work in other parts of the province, chiefly in the North. He directed the removal of rocks in rapids in the Yukon, Skeena, Stikine and Harrison Rivers.

When the Federal department office in British Columbia was transferred to New Westminster in 1932 he made his headquarters there. His present home is at Vancouver.

More recently he carried out foundation tests leading to the selection of the Government-Yates Street site for the projected Federal Building here.

Garry Lemon, commodore of the Olympia Yacht Club, has arrived here aboard his 50-foot power cruiser Yankee Doodle. He visited the Royal Victoria Yacht Club at Cadboro Bay before proceeding to the Inner Harbor.

Fifty Years' Service

C. W. JOHNSTON

MONTREAL, July 18 — Completing service that extended over half a century, Cecil W. Johnston, general passenger traffic manager of the Canadian National Railways, will retire under the pension rules of the company on July 27, it was announced today by Alistair Fraser, vice-president. Mr. Johnston, one of the best-known traffic men on the continent, has seen railway service in three wars. In his early days he took part in the movement of troops to the Boer War. He had a busy time in the First Great War with the handling of Canadian troops to and from overseas as a member of the Canadian Railway War Board Transport Committee. Under his jurisdiction the Canadian National has moved thousands of troops in the second world war and Mr. Johnston has had the satisfaction of playing a salient part in the making of another proud record.

WINNIPEG, July 19 (CP) — Rev. George A. Harris, former curate of All Saints Church here, has been reported missing while serving overseas with a Canadian paratrooper battalion, it was learned today. He was the first Anglican army chaplain to land in France during the invasion.

McElroy Takes Over Command

WITH THE RCAF IN NORMANDY, July 18 (CP) — Flt. Lt. John F. McElroy, DFC, of Kamloops, B.C., 23-year-old Canadian fighter ace of Malta, has taken over command of the RCAF City of Oshawa Spitfire squadron of the Second Tactical Air Force, it was announced tonight.

He succeeds Sqdn. Ldr. Fred Green, injured in a crash landing after his aircraft was hit by flak. Green's injuries, though not serious, will keep him on the ground for some time.

McElroy, whose score is seven enemy aircraft destroyed, three and one-half probably destroyed and eight damaged, has himself been shot down three times, once since "D" Day. The last time he escaped injury and was back in the air a short time later, shooting down two German aircraft.

He went to Malta in June, 1942, returned to Britain for instructional duties and after ten months went back to Canada on leave in August, 1943. He returned to Britain for instructional duties and after ten months went back to Canada on leave in August, 1943. He returned to Britain that December to join the RCAF Red Indian Squadron as a flight commander.

Says Wage Levels Not Affected

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP) — Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Liberal Member of the House of Commons for Edmonton East constituency, said tonight in a broadcast that she believed the family allowances which the Federal Government proposes to pay will not lower the wage scales of the country.

Payment of the allowances, scheduled to begin July 1, 1945, should "make no difference to wage levels at all," said Mrs. Casselman, who shared a half-hour broadcast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation with Senator W. M. Robertson, president of the National Liberal Federation of Canada.

The broadcast was made on part of the free time granted by the CBC to allow national political parties to outline their platforms and plans. The broadcast was the second made by Liberal party supporters since the free-time policy was inaugurated last month.

Senator Robertson said that "judged by any test which you wish to subject it to, the record of the Liberal Government of Prime Minister Mackenzie King since 1940, and the proposals they are making for the future, makes them more worthy of the support of the people of Canada than any other Government since Confederation.

"They are entitled to support of an overwhelming majority of the electorate of Canada at the polls, when they submit their record and proposals to the people, as they must do in the not far distant future."

Mrs. Casselman said the allowances, which would range from $5 a month for a child up to five years to $8 a month for a child from 13 to 16 years, would help the small wage earner but would not take the place of wages. Wage levels should remain unchanged.

Mrs. Casselman said the allowances would be of most benefit to those who do not earn enough to pay income tax and to those in the lower income tax brackets. The last census showed that 82 per cent of Canada's workers, including 14-year-old wage earners, earned less than $1,000 a year.

Some parents might use the allowances for their own rather than their children's benefit, but these cases would be isolated and would be dealt with quickly.

Entertain Soldiers

Officers and men of Albert Head Camp enjoyed a concert given by the Bonnie Ward Troupers last night, the first in a series of Summer entertainments.

Group vocalists opened the evening with a sing-song, followed by specialty numbers contributed by individual members. Marie Vowles, violinist, was recalled several times by the enthusiastic audience. John Ross, accordion artist, was also well received. Popular singers, Verna Moore and Elaine Harte, scored successes. Lois Moore contributed songs and novelty numbers and Bonnie Ward popular contralto numbers. Teresa Perkins, pupil of Florence Clough, showed agility and rhythm in her dancing and Doreen Bull was a capable acrobatic dancer. Dorothy Davies proved her versatility in solo acting assisted by J. Legat and Carl Johnston. Gwen Woolcock played the accompaniments.

The concert was put on with the co-operation of H. T. Crowe and Major Rix.

900,000 Articles Sent to Britain

With a record of completing 900,000 articles of clothing for use in Great Britain during the first six months of this year, women workers of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Red Cross Society are turning their attention to completing their year's quota in record time.

These Red Cross workers, who are scattered all over the Province in small hamlets and large towns, have made 2,006,507 wool comforts and hospital supplies for members of the services since they were organized in October, 1939. The figure for surgical dressings runs into the millions during this period, the quota at present being 8,500 weekly with work now three months ahead of schedule. Red Cross workers in British Columbia have earned themselves a national reputation for their steady work, states Mrs. H A. Ramsden, chairman of the provincial work committee.

A survey of the other work completed by women throughout British Columbia shows that service knitting is also well up to the quota set, although quantities of turtle-neck sweaters and gloves in four service colors are needed as well as khaki-sleeved sweaters and lots of navy socks. Women's service knitting quota is almost filled, only a few articles still being required.

It is pointed out by Mrs. Ramsden that the civilian clothing shipped to the Canadian Red Cross in London is now distributed to servicemen's families and emergency cases. This was brought home to a member of the Enderby branch when her son, serving overseas, wrote home that his new baby had received an entire hand-made layette from the Red Cross, the only place that such articles could be obtained.

Duo-Pianists in Fine Programme

Rita Nevard and Elizabeth Angus, Victoria girls, achieved an enviable reputation with Summer School of Education students as the result of their two-piano recital last year, and they were accorded a flattering reception when they reappeared again yesterday morning in their role of duo-pianists. Discriminating music lovers particularly were delighted with the choice programme these gifted young musicians presented at the High School.

Both serious musicians, each thoroughly competent for solo pianoforte work, they have, nevertheless, chosen to sink individual identity in ensemble performance, and have emerged as a very fine team with a definite personality of its own. There is sensitive mutual understanding between them, good reciprocal sharing of whatever the work in hand has to offer, and an almost completely identical style which makes it almost impossible at times to tell, without looking at them, where one drops and the other picks up the theme. Very clean, soundly musicianly, intelligent and satisfying was their performance yesterday.

A nicely-balanced programme opened with the ever-pleasing Bach chorale, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," played with reassuring steadiness and repose, and in the eight numbers which followed, ranging from the strictly classical to the exuberantly modern, outstanding favorites were "Jamaican Rumba" by Arthur Benjamin, of Vancouver, who is to play for the Summer School on July 27; the two David Guion numbers, "The Harmonica Player" and the clever bit of grotesquerie, "Sheep and Goat Walkin' to the Pasture"; Monti's brilliant "Czardas," and the Bach Toccata. Very musicianly, too, were the Brahms' Variations on a theme by Haydn, although not all equally interesting. And good variety was achieved in the Bourree, air and hornpipe from Handel's "Water Music" suite, the same composer being represented by still another number, "Arrival of the Queen of Sheba."

Juanita Carter, young United States soprano, native of Kentucky, is to sing this morning. She has been leading soprano with the Philadelphia Opera [illegible] ton Symphony and the National Symphony Orchestra.

Russian Drive

order of the day as the Russians pressed on toward Riga on the Baltic, less than 150 miles from Soviet advance thrusts.

In the centre of the front the Russians, attacking between Brest Litovsk and Bialystok, bastions guarding Warsaw, crossed the Curzon Line which Russia has suggested be the new Polish-Russian border after Poland is freed from the Germans.

Farther north in the area north and south of captured Grodno the Russians were menacing German East Prussia from positions inside Lithuania and just south of that frontier near the Suwalki triangle territory which Germany annexed to East Prussia in 1939 after Poland's fall.

Still farther north in Southern Lithuania the Russians fought north and west of Alytus for an extension of their bridgehead across the Niemen River, but the communique did not announce any further advances toward the East Prussian border in this sector.

German broadcasts however located the fighting near Mariampole 24 miles from the prewar frontier of East Prussia, in Lithuania. Four or five German divisions of perhaps 40,000 to 60,000 men have been encircled west of Brody, 55 miles northeast of Lwow, the communique said, and another German commander, Lt Gen Hoffmeier, head of the 31st Nazi Infantry Division, surrendered.

Check Discharges From the Bowels

Bowel troubles, although happening at any time of the year, are more prevalent during the hot summer and early fall months.

Summer Flu is one of the worst troubles, but diarrhea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the intestines, or any looseness of the bowels should have immediate attention.

The action of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is pleasant, rapid, reliable and effectual in helping to check the unnatural discharges.

It has been on the market for the past 94 years, so why experiment with new and untried remedies!

Get "Dr. Fowler's" and feel safe.

Senate Passes Jap Vote Change

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP).—The Senate today accepted after a brief debate a Commons amendment to an Elections Act bill affecting voting by Japanese in the next general election.

The amendment retains the ballot for Japanese who prior to Pearl Harbor had the right to vote—in effect Japanese resident in provinces other than British Columbia, where they are barred from the polls by provincial legislation.

Senator J. W. deB. Farris (L., British Columbia) said he favored the amendment because it contained a principle which British Columbia was anxious to maintain—the right of each province to determine the voting qualifications for its residents. On that principle no province in the future should have the right to say to British Columbia that it should give Japanese the franchise.

"It would be a curious effect if in wartime Japanese who did not previously have the vote should have it conferred on them," he said.

Chicago Golf Meet Will Pay Plenty

CHICAGO July 19 (AP) George May today turned the pressure on the pros competing in his Tam o' Shanter golf stampede, August 24-27 by announcing that the winner will be paid off at the rate of about $47.57 per stroke side bets not counting

Now this is enough moola to get even Jug McSpaden, defending champion and leading war bond earner of the season

By reducing the first prize award to such minute terms as so much per stroke Mr May is guilty of making his tournament the greatest test of nerves in golf as well as the richest A total of $42,500 in bonds will be passed out as prize money.

Mr May, who will charge spectators 83 cents (plus 17 cents tax) to watch golf's gold rush will bestow upon the winner the title of "world champion golfer of 1944" But more important he will give the guy $13,462.50 in war bonds This is equivalent to $47.57 per shot assuming the 72 hole score is 283 five under par which Mr May gladly assume

Since the Tam course was lengthened and tightened up the best aggregates have been 280 by Clay Heafner and Byron Nelson in 1942 and 282 by McSpaden and Buck White in 1943 Mr May who had a crew of workmen equipped with pneumatic drills punch holes in the green and this Winter to plant a couple of thousand matured trees [illegible] figure 283 will be the winning total this time

Athletic Park Friday at 6.30, Eagles vs. Navy

Big Reg Patterson's booming single off the centre-field wall with two out in the seventh inning sent two V M D runners scampering across the plate with the tying and winning runs and brought the shipbuilders a 5-4 triumph over the Navy in probably the most exciting ball game of the season

Played at the Athletic Park before a large and noisy crowd, the game produced thrill after thrill as first one team and then the other took turns at holding the lead with the result very much in doubt until the last man was retired It seemed that every play was close and, as usual the umpires came in for a lot of razzing from fans and players in both camps The win sent V.M.D. into a two-game lead over the Army and Navy nines now deadlocked in the place position

Playing under the management of Laurel Harney after a players' meeting on Monday night ousted Joe Casey the shipyard aggregation displayed much more hustle but were fortunate to win as they were outhit and the Navy failed to take advantage of their numerous scoring opportunities

Cy Shillito in notching his seventh win of the season, failed to display his usual form and just managed to stagger through He was touched for 12 hits and received good support from his outfielders who dragged in several hard-hit balls On the other hand, V M D displayed a lot of fight in coming from behind in the seventh, took advantage of some mental lapses by their opponents to convert them into runs and played steady ball in the field

The Navy have no one to blame but themselves for their failure to defeat the shipyard workers and move into a first-place tie Hitting the ball hard all evening they had men on the bases in every inning but only managed to score four of them In addition they were guilty of numerous errors of omission and commission Mental blunders set up the first V M D run and errors by Naughton at shortstop figured in the other run-making

V M D moved into the lead in the first Morgan opened with a walk stole second and went to third on a passed ball as Sparrow seemed to be having trouble This occasioned a change in the Navy lineup Sparrow was benched with First-Baseman Parkins moving behind the plate Van Hatten shifted from second to first Parkins from short to second and Jimmy Naughton came out to take over the short-stopping duties Morgan then counted after Bruce took Work's long fly in right centre The score was tied in the second when Van Hatten led off with a double and came around after catches by Morgan and Duffy on well-tagged balls hit by Moretti and Bartko

Duffy started the third for the shipyard crew with a triple Barnswell got credit for a hit when no one covered first on his slow roller and immediately stole second when that bag was also left uncovered Robinson and Yahonitsky grounded out with the runners holding but [illegible] singled to left counting Duffy with Barnswell an easy out at the plate on Bruce's accurate throw

The sailors took over the lead in the fourth Walker beat out a topped ball Van Hatten was called out as he stepped across the plate when attempting to sacrifice but Moretti lined a hit to centre Walker pulling up at second Bartko swinging late singled to right scoring Walker and sending Moretti to third Naughton hit sharply through the box Barnswell forcing Bartko at second with a fine play but Moretti ran in sending the Navy into a one run lead V M D immediately knotted the score in their half Barnswell reaching the platter on Robinson's hit over the bag at first

The fifth saw the Navy again forge to the front Parkins stretching his hit to right into a double and scoring as Walker lashed a single into right centre They managed to hold their advantage until the lucky seventh when the Harney charges put over their winning tally Morgan got a life on a hit [illegible] by Naughton and stole second on the first pitch Harney grounded a single between first and second Morgan stopping at third Harney stole second and both runners held when Work lined to Naughton Failure to cover second by the Navy costing a double play Patterson husky right fielder then smashed the ball against the wall in centre field and Morgan and Harney sprinted in with the tying and winning runs.

The Navy threatened in the ninth. With one out Parkins and Bruce dropped successive hits into centre field but Shillito disposed of Walker and Van Hatten both dangerous stickers, and V M D walked off with their thrilling win

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

WE heard of a man who was travelling in the south of Ireland many years ago. He came to a small cottage where he was met by an elderly man with a deeply scarred forehead who bade him enter and rest his bones. This he was glad to do and certainly did not repent his decision when his host proceeded to entertain him in a manner for which the Irish are famous. Their conversation was most pleasant and finally the visitor rose to go. As he did so he pointed to a rather curious arrangement on the sill above the hearth. It was a glass case under which reposed what seemed to be a withered rose placed upon a brick. He asked his host if it was a souvenir of something. "It is," said the Irishman emphatically. "That brick is what made this dint in me head." "And what is the flower?" asked the traveller. "The flower," said the Irishman with great relish, "the flower is off the grave of the man that throwed the brick."

Child's Idea May Stop Robot Bombs

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP).—A 4-year-old boy was credited by the president of a precision instrument company, today with discovering a new physics principle that might lead to the repelling of Nazi robot bombs now being directed at England. The boy, Frederick Andrus Gaulesen of Plainfield, N.J., sat silently at a press conference given by Mrs. H. M. McNab, president of McNab Inc. of Bridgeport, Conn., manufacturers of precision instruments.

Mrs. McNab said a device intended as a counter agent of the robots had been developed on the basis of the child's chance conversation with a mechanic concerning the similarity of movement between a garter snake and an elastic wrist watch band.

J. Scott Williams, a member of the board of directors of the company, said the principle questioned Newton's third law of motion, that "every action has an equal and opposite reaction."

Mrs. McNab declined to elaborate on the device or the principle, but said:

"Scientists believe [illegible] is sound and that it is a step in the direction of repelling the Nazi robot bombs and another weapon that may come from Germany and Japan."

The Army and Navy have both been advised and officials of the company and other scientists who have been working on the project will go to Washington, D.C., tomorrow.

The child's mother, widow of Alf O. Gaulesen, a marine engineer killed in an automobile accident two years ago, said the boy was unusually observant.

First Fiddle Heads Field

Captures $50,000 Event in the East

BOSTON, July 19 (CP).—Mrs. Ed Meulrenan's grey, First Fiddle, after running fifth in the back stretch, put on a closing drive to beat the Millbrook Stable's Alex Barth by three-quarters of a length in the $50,000-added Massachusetts Handicap before a 28,818 crowd at Suffolk Downs. A. C. Ernst's Alquest placed third in the eight-horse field.

First Fiddle toured the mile and a furlong in 1.49 to capture the $41,850 winner's share. The Greentree Stable's favored Four Freedoms, winner over First Fiddle in their last two starts, was never in the running and wound up sixth.

Alquest, ridden by George (Ice Man) Woolf, who has had two winning mounts in this rich event, led until the final turn, with Alex Barth in close pursuit.

Just when Woolf appeared to have his "triple" in his grasp, the fast-closing grey horse uncorked his stretch drive and was pulling away during the last 16th.

First Fiddle, second betting choice at 5 to 2, paid $7.20, $4 and $3.30. Alex Barth returned $7.80 and $3.60 and Alquest $5 for show.

Have Right to Urge Enlistment

VANCOUVER, July 18 (CP).—Officers, men in the armed forces' general service and the general public have the right to do, say or write all they can to persuade men to sign up for active service, Brigadier James Mess of Ottawa, deputy adjutant-general and director of recruiting, told a manpower conference here.

"Hiding behind a wife or mother's petticoats is no good," Brig. Mess said. "A man is only a man if he can make up his own mind."

"Within Pacific Command there are 30,000 home defence troops," Brig. Mess said. "All they lack is the right point of view."

At the Theatres

Noted Comedy Is Showing at Atlas

Film fans have more than one surprise in store for them when they see Paramount's hilarious comedy, "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek," which opens today at the Atlas Theatre, with Eddie Bracken and Betty Hutton in the starring roles. The picture is full of amazing situations and story twists.

The story tells of the problem of a small-town girl, Betty, who, in the excitement and inebriation of a dance thrown for soldiers, marries one of them. As right names were not given at the wedding ceremony, Betty can't find her husband when she needs him most.

How she solves her dilemma, with the help of the adoring Bracken, and what the "miracle" is will provide film fans with the best movie fun they've had for a long time. Contributing laughs too are Diana Lynn, William Demarest and Porter Hall.

Mickey Rooney Is At York Theatre

Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland who have staged a minstrel show, won a radio band contest and put on a vaudeville show in previous musicals together go in for something new. In M-G-M's "Girl Crazy," which opens today at the York Theatre, the two stars are at the head of a real whoop-em-up Western rodeo.

In their eighth picture together a special number created by Busby Berkeley and featuring Gershwin's immortal "I Got Rhythm" highlights the film. There are many other musical numbers but "I Got Rhythm" tops 'em all.

Also in the cast are Rags Ragland, Frances Rafferty, Guy Kibbee and Tommy Dorsey and his band.

Roy Rogers' Film Playing at Rio

Roy Rogers fans are looking forward to his next Republic picture which will be shown today at the Rio Theatre. The title is "Man From Music Mountain."

King of the Cowboys Rogers does a great deal more than his share in entertaining service men and has travelled several thousand miles on this labor of love.

Roy was surrounded with a large cast including such stellar names as Pat Brady, Ruth Terry, Paul Kelly and Renie Riano, not forgetting those stalwart singers and musicians the Sons of the Pioneers.

The outdoor scenes were exceptionally beautiful and the whole production ran along with meritorious smoothness.

Star Studded Cast in Musical at the Cadet

Warner Bros.' tune-full, star-full musical production, "Thank Your Lucky Stars," will be the next feature attraction at the Cadet Theatre. The film opens today.

Starred in the production are most of the contract players on the Warner Bros. roster including Humphrey Bogart, Eddie Cantor, Bette Davis, Olivia de Havilland, Errol Flynn, John Garfield, Joan Leslie, Ida Lupino, Dennis Morgan, Ann Sheridan, Dinah Shore, Alexis Smith and Spike Jones and his City Slickers. Each is seen in a specialty sequence.

Twelve tunes were written for the film by the noted song writers Arthur Schwartz and Frank Loesser.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES.—Makin Island in mid-Pacific is the locale for the Marine Raiders' first attack on Jap held territory as shown in Universal's action-packed "Gung Ho," which is being held over for one day at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. Randolph Scott portrays the chief role of Colonel Thorwald while other artists assisting him in the production are Alan Curtis, Noah Berry Jr., J. Carrol Naish, Sam Levene and Grace McDonald.

CAPITOL THEATRE.—The Wilde Twins, Lee and Lyn, are newcomers to the Andy Hardy film series now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The usual standbys are also in the picture, such as Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone, Sara Haden and Fay Holden.

DOMINION THEATRE.—Preston Foster plays the role of the romantic detective in 20th Century-Fox's suspenseful "Bermuda Mystery," which ends tonight at the Dominion Theatre. Also featured in the story of the murder mystery that shocked two continents are Ann Rutherford and Charles Butterworth.

Jack Doyle Is Singing

One-Time Boxer Having His Fun

BELFAST, July 18 (CP).—Handsome Jack Doyle, Ireland's tenor boxer, is doing more singing than boxing these days. [illegible] in Northern Ireland and Eire with his pretty little Arizona-Mexican wife, Movita, and claims he's serious about improving his voice. Right now he's still an undeveloped tenor without much stage personality, but the crowds here like him.

Jack hasn't fought for nearly a year and isn't particularly anxious as long as the show business holds up.

"I don't like to fight anyway," says Jack. "What I like is the mazuma. When I need some cash I'll have a fight or two."

Although he says he's only 30 now, big Jack started fighting about 12 years ago. Back in 1933 he met Jack Peterson for the British heavyweight title but was disqualified for hitting low. That cost him six months' suspension from the ring.

Jack Dempsey got interested in Doyle's right hand and the 235-pound Irishman went to the United States, making it clear that he expected to pick up about two and a half million dollars fighting and making movies. He did get himself fame in Hollywood, mostly through his romantic problems.

In between times he was back in Britain where he got himself another disqualification for hitting Alf Robinson when the latter was down.

King Levinsky came to London and Doyle beat him at Wembley Stadium, April 27, 1937. A plan for him to fight Tommy Farr fell through. In the second round of [illegible] Doyle tumbled from the ring and was counted out. When he tried a comeback the following year Phillips knocked him out in the first round. His money ran low and he began to appear on the stage. On at least one occasion he was booed. In a Dublin ring June 12, 1943, Chris Cole, also an Irishman, stopped the tenor with quick rights and lefts to the face in the first round.

Two months later Doyle was back again and this time he had more fight in him. Butcher Howell of Cork put him down twice but he got up and kayoed the Butcher in the third round.

His manager says Doyle may do more fighting when his current stage tour is finished. He says Doyle might even fight for the British Empire heavyweight title. Little Movita, a veteran of stage and films, outshines her husband on the stage. But the crowds yell for Jack to sing the old Irish songs, and sometimes he obliges after he has given them an operatic air.

Movita says she would like to entertain the troops, but the ban on travel from Ireland kept her here. If she eventually succeeds, Jack may find himself back in the ring looking for the "mazuma."

Boys Saved When Boat Overturns

Three Oak Bay boys were saved from possible drowning last night after their improvised sailing boat capsized a half mile from shore.

The boys, William Rayhone, 13, 3697 Lincoln Avenue; Robert Curran, 15, 1400 St. Patrick Street, and Melville Stewart, 976 Island Road, had been clinging to their boat for 15 minutes when picked up by W. S. Phillips, 2416 Central Avenue, in his launch.

The boys' craft, a rowboat equipped with a mast, was overturned by freshening winds at 8.30 o'clock. Mr. Phillips, at the Oak Bay Boathouse, went out in his craft the Cedric and found the boys clinging to the keel. Most of the boat was already below water and when he returned later he could not find it.

The boys suffered from cold and exhaustion.

Forest Closure Order Extended To Prevent Additional Outbreaks

With yesterday's rain so light that it reduced the fire hazard only slightly, and with weather forecasts failing to indicate material relief the Forest Branch announced extension of its forest closure to include woods operations and sawmill or industrial operations within half a mile of forests.

The order extending the closure [illegible] which includes Vancouver Island, was signed yesterday by Premier John Hart, as Minister of Lands, and went into effect at midnight.

Effect of the order is to prohibit logging operations and travel for prospecting in the woods, and to close down operations on the borders of forests, except where they may be continued under permit. The original closure order prohibited travel in the woods by the public for camping, fishing, hunting and berry picking and this prohibition continues, the public being confined to travel along the highways.

Rain falling in Victoria yesterday morning amounted to .02 inch, Forest Branch officials were informed. They were also informed in the early afternoon that while the Alberni area had light rain in the morning the weather was fine and hot at noon.

Bowen Island fire, which got out of control during high winds on Tuesday, was causing considerable trouble yesterday. Officials were hopeful that yesterday's duller weather would assist in regaining control. A small railway fire was reported near Qualicum.

Prince George reported five fires in the Watson Lake area and a fairly large fire south of Norman Lake, half way between Vanderhoof and Quesnel. Kamloops district had four small fires, and Nelson district five.

Forest Branch officials were apprehensive lest the clouds and light [illegible] ring storms in the Kamloops and Nelson districts, with an outbreak of fires following. All districts reported a continuing high hazard.

Urge Completion Of Marine Drive

A copy of a letter sent to Hon. H. Anscomb, Minister of Public Works, by the Victoria Real Estate Board, in connection with the completion of Marine Drive to encircle all Saanich Peninsula, was received by the mayor at the City Hall yesterday.

The letter was written to Mr. Anscomb by the Real Estate Board following a recent meeting at which unanimous approval was given to plans for completion of Marine Drive by construction of missing links to make an attractive highway circling all Saanich Peninsula. It was stressed that such an undertaking would prove to be a major tourist attraction.

The letter was signed by Hubert Lethaby, secretary of the Victoria Real Estate Board.

"Upon completion of this road," the letter said, "it would be possible to make a round trip of approximately 55 miles from the Empress Hotel, swinging around Saanich Peninsula and following the waterfront."

Such a road, according to the letter, would be of great benefit to both Victoria and the province.

Cost of the proposed road, according to the board members, would not be prohibitive as most of the roads forming part of the proposed highway are already in existence.

It was also brought to the attention of Mr. Anscomb that there would be more than seven miles of the road passing several lakes in the Langford area. Advantages for tourist travel were emphasized in the letter.

Music Appreciation Talks Are Popular

Increasing interest in Burton Kurth's music appreciation hour, held each Monday and Thursday evening at the Victoria High School, is the direct outcome of the choice selection of recordings used on these occasions in connection with the Summer School of Education. Mr. Kurth, or one or two students, supplement the musical part of the programme with helpful comments. These evening classes are open to the public.

"What ultimately makes music last? Music must stand on its musical rather than its literary merits," Mr. Kurth commented at one of these recitals. "Thousands of operas have been composed, only a few have survived. Those that disappeared did so because they had no real musical merit and the literary interest was not sufficient to keep them alive."

Supervisor of music in the Vancouver schools, Mr. Kurth has been a popular member of the Summer School faculty for several years, and this year has a class of more than 40 in 'Introduction to Music Literature and History,' another class of 28 for advanced choral music and conducting and a third class working on music problems in schools.

Edward F. Miller, of Lonsdale School, North Vancouver, gave an informative talk during the lunch hour yesterday to students interested in the classroom value of the reproductions of Canadian artists' pictures now on exhibition in Room 300. Each of the 20 pictures was analyzed in turn from the viewpoint of composition, and teachers were shown how to indicate the salient points and get their children to make original compositions with a different landscape or set of objects but using similar lines.

Protest Park Change

Further strong protests from Victoria unions against the charge of $100 by the city for the use of Macdonald Park on July 1 have been received by the City Council. Yesterday letters of protest were received from the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local No. 1598, and also from the Sheet Metal Workers' International Association Local No. 276.

"We feel this is discriminating against trade unionism as there are several organizations of this city receiving use of this park for a much more reasonable fee," the Sheet Metal Workers' letter stated.

May Appeal to Privy Council

Ralph M. Wilby's fight against extradition to New York to face 17 grand larceny charges involving $275,984, may be carried to the Privy Council. Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., his counsel, applied yesterday to the Appeal Court of British Columbia for leave to appeal to the Privy Council, and Friday morning was set for the application to be heard.

This latest development in the long-drawn fight followed dismissal of Wilby's appeal from a ruling of Mr. Justice Coady that his re-arrest recently was legal.

Mr. Wismer argued that when the keeper of the Victoria jail turned Wilby over to United States officers, following dismissal of his first application for a writ of habeas corpus, and while a second application was being made, his action constituted voluntary abandonment of the prisoner. After voluntary abandonment Wilby could not be re-arrested under the original warrant, counsel contended.

The keeper of the jail was not bound to obey the order of the Minister of Justice to surrender Wilby, but was bound to obey an order of the court, and an application was pending in court at the time the effort was being made to spirit this man away, Mr. Wismer claimed.

CLAUDE L. HARRISON REPRESENTS NEW YORK

Claude L. Harrison, representing the State of New York, asserted there was no question, at that time, regarding the validity of the order given by the Minister of Justice for surrender of Wilby to the American officers. The jailer, he argued, released Wilby to them "pursuant to the order of the minister" which he was "bound to obey." At the time no one had challenged the minister's order.

Immediately after dismissal of the appeal was announced by Acting Chief Justice Sloan, who with Mr. Justice O'Halloran and Mr. Justice Robertson heard the arguments, application was made by Mr. Wismer for leave to appeal to the Privy Council. He will seek to appeal not only this decision, but a preceding decision by Chief Justice Farris, upheld by the Court of Appeal, dismissing the first habeas corpus application. Mr. Harrison opposed further delay.

Wilby was arrested in Victoria March 12, and was committed on April 11 for extradition. Since that time three habeas corpus applications have been made on his behalf and each has ultimately reached the Court of Appeal.

There have been 22 court appearances to date.

POWELL RIVER, B.C., July 18 (CP)—Publishers of Powell River's two weekly newspapers, Les Way of The Powell River News, and Al Alsgard, of The Town Crier, joined today to produce a 28-page special edition outlining the attractions of Powell River and district. The supplement was undertaken in conjunction with Powell River Board of Trade's publicity campaign throughout British Columbia and the Prairies to popularize Powell River as a place to live.

Mayor Reveals Permanent Motion Picture Studio May Be Erected

Establishment of a permanent film studio in Victoria in the near future is possible according to Mayor Andrew McGavin, who has wired R. W. Mayhew, M.P., asking him to use his influence at Ottawa to have a quota system placed on the production of motion pictures.

The quota system if adopted would mean that a certain percentage of all pictures shown in Canada [illegible] gin. The system is already being used in Great Britain, the mayor stated, and added he thought Mexico and all South American countries had similar regulations.

It was explained by the mayor that if the system was put into effect, each of the large film companies of Hollywood would have to make at least one picture in Canada annually. Victoria was described as being the nearest and most convenient Canadian city to Hollywood.

It is expected that one large Hollywood studio will produce three short pictures in Victoria in the near future. Each of the three "shorts," it was learned, will cost approximately $50,000 with more than $30,000 in each case spent here. [illegible] made at [illegible]

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, one of the largest film studios in Hollywood, is also expected to make a picture here this Summer.

Hollywood interests feel there will be a demand for pictures made in the British Empire to meet demands of the British quota law as one of the large film studios in Britain has been bombed out of existence, Mayor McGavin stated.

Want Schoolgirls For Berry Picking

Eighteen schoolgirls, 15 years of age and over, are needed at the Mount Newton High School berry pickers' hostel, C. M. Smith, local manager of the Dominion-Provincial Emergency Farm Labor Board, stated yesterday.

The hostel, which provides all home conveniences for the girl pickers, is directed by Miss G. M. Hoaley, supervisor of the Strathcona Lodge School, and can accommodate 36. There are already 18 girls attending from various schools of Greater Victoria.

Those interested in staying at the hostel from July 21 to the end of the month are asked to visit the local office of the Farm Labor Board at 604 Broughton Street.

Ryerson Press Again Offers Fiction Award

The Ryerson Press, Toronto, is again offering $1,000 award for the Canadian novel of 50,000 to 150,000 words adjudged best by a jury of three. In 1942, when the award was first made, "Little Man," by G. Herbert Ballans, former Vancouver Sun writer, was the winner. No awards were made in 1943 or 1944 as submissions were considered to be lacking in distinction.

The award will be half as an outright prize and half as guaranteed royalties. March 1, 1945 is the closing date. More than one entry for the contest may be published by the company.

Permit Necessary for Purchase of Furnace

C. H. Boothe, of the local office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, announced yesterday that many persons seemed to be laboring under the impression that they could now purchase a furnace without receiving a certificate from the board.

"People must still make application to the board for a permit. The freezing of hot-air furnaces has not been withdrawn," Mr. Boothe stated.

Mr. Boothe added that no certificates or permits would be issued until completion of an inventory of stocks across Canada, but it was hoped that the permits would be available for issue within two weeks.

Has Fractured Leg

Bryan Craig, four, 401 Skinner Street, is in the Royal Jubilee Hospital with a fractured leg following an accident Tuesday evening on Front Street, when, according to a police report, a truck backed into the tricycle he was riding and knocked him to the road. The truck was driven by Richard Hudlin, 2727 Douglas Street.

According to police the truck had stopped to allow a passenger to alight and in starting to go ahead had rolled backwards several yards, knocking Bryan from his tricycle.

Dr. H. M. Young, who is attending, said yesterday the condition of the boy was good but he will be in hospital for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Craig, parents of the injured boy, said yesterday they were of the opinion that Bryan had left his tricycle on the side of the road, and that the truck had parked in front of it. When the truck started to roll backwards Mrs. Craig stated Bryan had dashed from a nearby embankment in an attempt to save his tricycle from damage and was hit by the vehicle.

Strom, Prince George, the reserve on 160 acres of timberland north of that centre estimated to contain 1,835,000 board feet has been canceled by Provincial order-in-council. The acreage involved is part of lands set aside for rehabilitation purposes if desired.

X-Ray of a BOMBER'S "INNARDS"

One of the many vital parts of a bomber which are subject to great stress in action, being checked by X-ray for possible flaws

CHEMISTRY SERVES CANADA

IN many plants producing aircraft, ships and other heavy war equipment the extraordinary powers of the X-ray are being employed for precise inspection of metal parts. The same X-ray which revolutionized medical practice is now serving on the production line.

Modern machines of war are largely constructed from metal parts that have been cast (shaped from molten metal) and welded together. These parts and their welded joints must be sound and strong.

The X-ray makes possible the most careful examination of the internal structure of steel, aluminum and other widely used metals. The penetrating scrutiny of X-ray reveals any hidden flaws. With such advanced methods, faulty material can be detected and discarded early in production. X-ray inspection makes sure that only sound, reliable weapons and machines are delivered to our fighting men.

Through its Plastics Division, C-I-L brings to Canada the benefit of great research in this important field—research carried on for many years by DuPont scientists. Fast, reliable DuPont Safety X-ray films for industrial, as well as medical and dental use are available through leading X-ray Film distributors from coast to coast.

X-ray films for industry—and, of course, for medicine—provide another example of a product of Industrial Chemistry which serves Canada in war and peace.

Caen Cathedral Was "Home" For Vast Throng of Normans

By GAULT MacGOWAN
North American Newspaper Alliance

CAEN, July 18 (By Wireless).—I stood beside the grave of William the Conqueror and gazed upon a throng of Normans.

They were packed into the aisles, transept, chapels, choir, ambulatory and cloisters of Archbishop Lanfranc's church, which dates from 1077, like the crowds in London's subways at the time of the blitz. With their homes destroyed or threatened during the shelling and bombing of Caen, they had taken refuge there with their mattresses, blankets, cooking pots and most treasured personal possessions.

Piles of straw were neatly arranged everywhere for those who had lost even their bedding. Church chairs were grouped in squares, family by family. Early comers were living en famille in side chapels, using altars for dressing tables and mantelpieces. Some were playing cards, the sick and injured were sleeping and the others were having family meals. In the cloisters barbers were giving free haircuts and shaves to all comers. A cobbler was mending boots.

Only before the high altar, at the rail where I stood, were a few chairs reserved for prayer.

SCENE FLASHBACK TO MIDDLE AGES

The scene was like a flashback into the Middle Ages, when the churches were not only places of worship but also were refuges for the faithful in time of persecution and battle. Sometimes troops were garrisoned in them, horses stabled in the cloisters, with forage supplies in the choir chapels.

Now within the choir each of the ancient oak stalls of the choristers and canons held its refugee. Beneath the memorial to Archbishop Lanfranc a woman suckled a babe; elsewhere a man in blue overalls distributed half-pint bottles of milk to toddlers, and a mother was hanging the family washing on a clothes-line suspended from a medieval wrought-iron grille to an angel's wing.

But there was no sense of desecration. Beside me was a black-garbed nun who prayed constantly for those who sought shelter in the church. Later another nun declared that she prayed continuously, the more fervently because the church alone gave no guarantee of safety. Caen's great Church of St. Peter, which successfully withstood the bombardment of 1563, now lies in ruins, as do many other churches.

NO SMOKING AND COOKING

The only regulations in effect in the church were those prohibiting smoking and cooking, which were limited to the courtyard outside because of the danger of setting fire to the piles of straw in the building.

"What have you been eating?" I asked a woman who was cleaning up after a family meal in the ambulatory.

"Bread, cheese, water and canned meat," she replied. "It was all we could get. We have been here since Invasion Day. Our home was destroyed."

The people did not complain much about German courtesy during the years of Nazi occupation. "We knew how to handle them," I was told. "The garrison troops were dumbbells. We just ignored their regulations en masse when we wanted to, and they seemed unable to do anything about it. But it was different near the end, when the S.S. troops came in. They were brutes. A married woman whom I know and her maid were abducted by them—we found her dead and the maid in a state of collapse."

They are feeding and evacuating these heroes of the siege today, sending truckloads of them to back areas in liberated Normandy. There, camps are waiting for the last of the Normans from William the Conqueror's home town.

Official Communique

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, July 18 (AP). — Communique No. 88.

Fierce armored and infantry fighting continued this morning in the area south and east of Caen.

Faubourg de Vaucelles is now entirely in our hands and the enemy has been cleared from the villages of Lopigny on the west bank and Fleury on the east bank of the River Orne.

The breach in the enemy defences has been widened and Allied troops have occupied the villages of Touffreville, Demouville and Giberville.

Pockets of enemy resistance which had been by-passed have been eliminated. Progress continues in spite of stubborn enemy opposition.

Throughout yesterday and today Allied warships and landing craft have been engaging enemy batteries on the eastern flank in support of the army.

Allied aircraft based in Normandy maintained their patrols and close support of our troops this morning.

One thousand two hundred fifty prisoners were taken yesterday in the Caen area and the total taken since the beginning of the campaign is now over 60,000.

Allied troops have made local advances in the Hottot area and north of Remilly-Sur-Lozon.

SAVING FOOD VALUE WHEN COOKING

In these days when food and food values mean so much to our strength and morale we may wonder why some housewives cook cabbage for 20 minutes and others for 10 minutes or less. The same applies to garden corn which some cook for 20 minutes and others for but two minutes only.

Similarly with meats. Some housewives put a roast in the oven and let it cook for three or four hours while others will cook the same roast for two hours or less. As to the temperature of the oven, some cook the roast at a temperature of 300 degrees F. for a long time whilst others will put the roast in the oven at a temperature of 400 degrees F. at first. The slow low temperature oven prevents considerable "shrinking" and the hot oven holds in the juices.

"Covering the pot during cooking besides hastening heating, saving fuel and reducing exposure to the air has the additional advantage of keeping out light which in some types of food (milk and eggs) acts to destroy riboflavin (part of vitamin B2) at high temperatures."

The housewife must decide whether the advantages of "covered" cooking are greater than those claimed for open cooking—better color of green vegetables and improved taste of "strong" vegetables.

In their book "An Introduction to Foods and Nutrition," Prof. Henry C. Sherman and Caroline Sherman Lanford, Columbia University, give valuable suggestions to housewives on the preparation of foods so that they do not lose their food values.

1. Prepare vegetables immediately before cooking. 2. Pare or scrape thinly, better not at all. 3. Cook in smallest possible volume of water. 4. Use no soda. 5. Add vegetables to boiling water, heat quickly to boiling again. 6. Cover when cooking unless you want vegetables to hold their "greenness." 7. Avoid vigorous boiling and stirring during cooking. 8. Cook just until done. 9. Avoid mashing and whipping while hot. 10. Serve vegetables with water in which they have been cooked where possible. 11. Eat generously of vegetables to avoid leftovers. 12. If leftovers occur, eat promptly. 13. Prepare salads just before serving. 14. Cook beef, lamb and veal at low temperatures to avoid shrinkage. 15. Cook all pork "thoroughly." 16. Extend leftover meats by using cereals and vegetables with them. 17. Save and use (or turn in to be salvaged) all fat trimmings and drippings.

French Paper Is Serene in War

By MARSHALL YARROW
Reuter's War Correspondent

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN FRANCE, July 19 (CP-Reuters)—War may change the face of a nation, but the style and form of a newspaper is apparently indestructible.

I studied with interest—and difficulty—the newest copy of "Renaissance du Bessin," the first free newspaper in liberated France.

One would think it would be shrieking its story of war on its readers' doorsteps. But no, like any other newspaper in Newcastle or Melbourne, it tells the story of the war and then goes on to give its priceless quota of local news—who has had a baby, and who has died.

The first column is devoted to war summaries. It is significant that news from liberated France is headed simply "France." The rest is under a separate caption "Occupied France." There there are sections for Russia, Italy and the Pacific.

The rest is just like any other small town newspaper. There is an account of the funeral of an aged electrician who died "suddenly and tragically," also the obsequies of a 12-year-old boy, with the editor extending his deepest sympathy to the bereaved families.

There are two bankruptcy advertisements and a couple of columns of notices from the mayor telling the people what they can do and what they cannot do. These are getting so numerous that they are now numbered "avis 25," "avis 38" and so on.

PLENTY OF ADS

The classified advertising columns are apparently veritable gold mines. Everybody has apparently lost something or someone and "lost" notices are inserted with that supreme faith that everyone seems to have in the power of the press all over the world. The greatest losses seem to be small herds of cattle which have vanished mysteriously and the owner is willing to pay a reward for their recovery.

One bereaved lady bemoans the loss of her white cat. I don't know where the cat is, but I have a faint idea where quite a number of the cattle went. I shudder to think that perhaps the cat and the cattle went to the same place.

There are still no crossword puzzles, no racing news or comics, but they will doubtless come. Illustrations, somewhat old but surprisingly well printed, of De Gaulle in Bayeux, appear on the front page.

Since there is no electricity in the place of publication, the production of this little paper twice a week is a triumph.

A column of letters to the editors would make it complete, especially if they complained of the usual trifles such as being kept awake at night by the noise the visitors are making.

I am watching eagerly for the first announcement of a marriage between an English Tommy and a local girl. There has been none yet. Evidently our soldiers are giving their first attentions to the Germans.

Vining Charged

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 18 (CP).—Edward T. (Ted) Vining, of London, Ont., arrested in Brantford today and charged with manslaughter in connection with the capsizing of the motor launch Olga at nearby Port Stanley June 4, will appear in magistrate's court here early next month for preliminary hearing, it was learned.

Seventeen persons lost their lives in the sinking of the Olga and Vining is charged in connection with the death of Barbara Martin, young St. Thomas war worker who was aboard the Olga at the time it capsized.

The formal charge is that on June 4 Vining "did unlawfully slay and kill Barbara Martin and did therefore commit the indictable offence of manslaughter contrary to the Criminal Code of Canada."

It was learned that as a result of the manslaughter charge, the inquest into Miss Martin's death, opened at Port Stanley June 5, will not be proceeded with.

His RHEUMATIC PAIN disappeared years ago

Many men and women, at the approach of their forties start to have various aches and pains which are attributed to "middle age". But not Mr. and Mrs. Patrick. They have enjoyed good health for 20 years. Mrs. Patrick writes —

"For the past twenty years we have always taken a small dose of Kruschen in our early morning cup of tea — we never miss, not even on a holiday. My husband and I both largely owe our extremely good health to this treatment, and we are never afraid to say so. My husband, although 55 years of age, feels and looks no more than 45. He is a picture of health. Before he started with Kruschen, he suffered with rheumatic pain in his arm, but though this disappeared years ago, he will not give up his Kruschen."
—(Mrs.) L. C. Patrick.

Kruschen is a combination of natural salts which stimulate your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. Kruschen helps ensure internal cleanliness, and to keep the bloodstream pure.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable of all Drug Stores: 25c and 75c.

German Losses in France Gauged

GEN. MONTGOMERY'S HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, July 18 (AP).—General Montgomery estimated today that 156,000 Germans have been "written off"—killed, wounded or captured—in the six-weeks-old campaign in Normandy and declared Allied troops would "have no difficulty in defeating the Germans in France."

"Our object is to write off German personnel and equipment," the Allied ground commander told a press conference. "Bleed the German military machine to death and the time will come when the enemy can't go on."

Referring to operations east of the Orne, Montgomery said: "Yesterday was an extremely good day. There is no doubt that we have gained tactical surprise . . ."

Veterans' Guard May Absorb New Vets

These are the qualifications:

1. They must be entitled to wear the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal.
2. They must be ineligible for further overseas duty.
3. They must be not less than 38 years of age.
4. They must be of good character.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"NOT WORTH A SOU"

Through the centuries since antiquity careless financial practices have regularly caused ruinous inflation whose effects were fought by debasing the currency.

So-called "gold" and "silver" coins, for example, would be made of cheap metals, but the public would be deceived for awhile because the original precious metal nomenclature would be retained for the spurious issues.

As an instance, the old Roman name for a gold coin was solidus—so-called because it was composed solidly and solely of gold.

Inflation came along and the solidus began to be made of silver, then of copper, finally of any nondescript metal available, but all still called solidus.

Similarly, the French coin known as the sou (deriving from the Latin solidus) was originally made of gold, then of silver, finally of copper or bronze, by which time it had the value of an American cent.

So in that common little phrase, "not worth a sou," there is a lesson on the perils of inflation that was learned the hard way by many generations of people. This is the time to take that lesson to heart and buy war bonds which will help to keep our economy sound and prevent inflation in this country!

Many Attend Park Cheer-Up Concert

Group singing led by Royal Navy ratings was a special feature of last night's cheer-up concert at Beacon Hill Park. Alderman W. H. Davies performed the usual introduction of visitors over a loud-speaker and several contacted former friends.

The concert was enjoyed by close to 1,500 people, including 54 visitors from far-away points in Canada and the United States.

Royal Navy ratings started the concert by singing "White Cliffs of Dover" and other popular numbers. Twelve soldiers followed, and finally 12 R.C.N.V.R. ratings took part in the performance. Two Wrens also sang. A young Vancouver girl contributed songs and brought loud applause. Douglas Campbell put on an imitation of Sinatra.

The jitterbug contest was won by Shirley Griffin and Rene Davies. Sgt. R. J. Perullet was master of ceremonies. Alderman Davies commented that the young people were very well behaved and great credit was due officials who supervised the concerts. He also stated that Sgt. Perullet deserved high praise for his able help.

Sought for Murder

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C., July 19 (CP).—Police and villagers tonight combed the woods back of Fort Alcan, near here, for Philip Durocher, 35-year-old woodcutter, guide and trapper, who is charged with the murder of his wife, Shirley M. Durocher. The woman, her throat cut from ear to ear, staggered out of the brush early today and died within a few minutes.

John Brown, wood contractor, told police that Durocher, an employee, informed him earlier he had "some family business to attend to" and that he would "be away a few minutes."

The Durochers have been separated but a few days ago agreed to forget their differences. There are two small children.

WILL YOU PLEASE HANG THIS PICTURE FOR ME—REAL HIGH? YOU'RE TALLER THAN I AM
I'M NOT TALLER THAN YOU
YOU ARE, WHEN YOU'RE STANDING ON A LADDER
AND I SUPPOSE I'M SHORTER THAN SHE IS, WHEN I'M STANDING IN A HOLE!
